RIDING DOWN A COUNTRY ROAD: Nearly 200 bike riders from around the state pedaled down the Sunday River Road Friday on the start of their 182-mile "Trek to the Sea." The three-day ride raised funds for the Maine Lung Association. The ride began at the skiway and ended in Rockport Sunday.

198 bicyclists trek from Bethel to the Sea to help Maine Lung Association

Starting from the Sunday River Skiway last Friday, 198 bicyclists pedaled 182 miles by Sunday afternoon, arriving at the Samoset Resort, in Rockport, to complete the trek from "Bethel to the Sea." The riders signed up sponsors before the trip to pledge money to help the Maine Lung Association. Preliminary figures indicate about $80,000 was pledged.

Morgan Granger, of Chapman Street, Bethel, was the only local rider. He said the best part of the trip was arriving at Rockport and jumping into the ocean.

Other highpoints were riding past the lakes outside of Camden on the final leg of the trip, enjoying a sauna, jacuzzi and massage at The Samoset, and partaking of a lobster dinner that night.

He commended the organizers of the trek for providing comfortable accommodations during the trip at UMF and Union College, and for efficiently repairing bikes that broke down.

The only untoward incident occurred when one of the riders hit a rock, fell off her bike, and broke a cheekbone.

Riders ranged in age from 14 to 64, and were all in good shape, according to Mr. Granger. He said most of them were from the Portland and Yarmouth areas.

He said the riding went quickly, requiring only four to five hours daily to cover the 60-mile average.

'CITIZEN' TO PUBLISH ON TUESDAY NEXT WEEK

The Citizen will be published on Tuesday (July 1) next week instead of the customary Wednesday date. Earlier publication is necessitated by printing plant scheduling caused by the July 4th holiday.

Tuesday publication means that advertising deadlines will be one business day earlier than usual. Deadlines are on Friday, June 27: copy for display and classified display advertising will have to be in the Citizen office by noon, and copy for classified advertising by 5 p.m.

All contributors are asked to take note of the earlier publication date and submit material as early as possible.

Only 170 turn out for attempt to increase budget

It was over before it started. Even before the clock struck 7 p.m.—the appointed time for the school district meeting last Thursday night to reconsider the fiscal 1987 budget—it was clear to everyone that the meeting would never conduct any business.

That was because in order for the budget to be reconsidered, by state law there had to be as many people at the second meeting as were at the first meeting (May 28) that first passed the school district budget. That number was 721.

The number that showed up last Thursday night at the Telstar gymnasium was just 170, just slightly more than the 146 who signed the petition to hold a second meeting.

The small number was mainly made up of school district staff and their families. Not even all the school board members were present—only 13 out of 17 were there. The Telstar Educators' Association had hoped to have a good showing of parents of students in the school system. Flyers urging attendance had been mailed to parents, but few showed up.

The petitioners for the re-opening of the budget debate had hoped to bring back $200,000 of the $400,000 that was cut from the $4.2 million budget proposed to the voters May 28. The $3.8 million budget approved at that time is still nearly $200,000—or 5 percent—higher than last year's budget.

The only business conducted by the voters present at the meeting last Thursday night was to elect Bill Cousins moderator. He told the assembly that he would delay conducting other business until 7:30 to see if any great crush of people would appear.

By 7:35 the bleachers were still mostly empty and the moderator called for a motion to adjourn. The motion was made and easily passed. The breakdown of the

Main St. parade will precede Sunday's circus

A colorful circus parade, complete with elephants, camels, "the jumping jalepy," clowns, acrobats, and led by a fire truck carrying local children in clown costumes, is scheduled to take place in Bethel this Sunday, June 29, at 3 p.m.

The parade will form at the fire station and move down Main Street to the SAD #44 bus garage.

The parade will precede the 5 p.m. performance of the Texas-based Olde Tyme American Circus at Telstar, sponsored by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

The circus, under the big top, will feature animal, high wire, clown and trampoline acts. A second performance will be held Monday evening, at 7 p.m., also at Telstar. Before each performance, there will be an area set aside as a petting zoo, where children can get acquainted with the animals and talk with the clowns.

Tickets may be purchased in advance, at discount prices, at Brooks Bros., Bethel Savings Bank, Edelweiss Country Store, Prim's Pharmacy, Citizen Press, the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, Locke Mills Marketplace, Bob's Corner Store and the Bryant Pond Village Store. In South Paris, tickets are available at Prim's; in Norway, tickets are available at Key Bank and Bartash's; in Rumford, tickets may be purchased at Port to Port Imports and Young Generation. Tickets, at regular prices, will also be available at the gate.

Summer conferences of NTL begin for '86

Last weekend saw the arrival of participants and staff for the first week of NTL Institute's 1986 summer conferences in Bethel. Six different programs on the general theme of human resource development are being held this week at the NTL Conference Center, Crescent Park School, and the Bethel Inn Conference Center. In the Monday afternoon orientation session, the group was welcomed not only by NTL Executive Director Joseph Potts and Board Chair David L. Ford, Jr., but also by Ginger Kelly on behalf of the town of Bethel and the NTL/Bethel Liaison Committee.

This week also inaugurates a new season of Sunrise Seminars. These are informal 45-minute presentations by staff members, who are a changing group each week. The seminars are open to members of the Bethel community at no charge and are held in the Maine Room, just behind the NTL Conference House. The starting time is 7:30 a.m., and they are offered Tuesday through Saturday of each week. Earlier this week presentations were made by Leroy Wells, Jr., Eunice Parisi-Carew, and Donald Carew.

The topics for the remainder of the week include the following: Thursday, June 26, Richard Orange and Tony Buonocore—"Optimizing Diversity: The New Focus of Affirmative Action Training"; Friday, June 27, Larry Richard—"Predicting Organizational Behavior Using NLP Patterns"; and Saturday, June 28, Dorothy Wells-Weber—"Re-Framing Old Myths: A New Look at Arrogance."

The topics for each week's seminars are regularly posted in a number of locations around Bethel, West Bethel, and Locke Mills. Throughout the eight-week season the list will be posted late Monday or early Tuesday, but persons who wish to know the topic for Tuesday may call the NTL Office at 824-2151 on Monday afternoon. A welcome is extended to all interested persons from the Bethel area.

Comprehensive Plan issued; suggests land-use planning

The Bethel Planning Board last week issued its long-awaited update of the town's Comprehensive Plan. While the plan is a blueprint of how the community has developed, where it stands now, and what sort of development can be expected in the future, it also contains a chapter of recommendations. Among these are a recommendation that the town adopt a land-use plan in order to channel development.

The last attempt at planning—that is, the adoption of a zoning ordinance in the 1960's—failed because of the strictness of the measure. It was repealed a year after it was adopted. (The ordinance repealed on May 14, 1968, part of a Comprehensive Plan prepared by the James Sewall Company of Old Town, had been approved at the March 1967 annual town meeting. It had supplanted the original code enacted by the town in September of 1958.)

In order to help town boards coordinate their efforts, an up-dated Comprehensive Plan was produced in 1979. The revised Comprehensive Plan will be discussed by the Board of Selectmen at its meeting June 30. The board will schedule a later public hearing. Copies of the 64-page Comprehensive Plan are available from the town office. The plan is summarized below.

Bethel became an incorporated town on June 10, 1796, with a population of over 300 people.

Land for the town had been set aside by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1768 to descendants of veterans of Sudbury, Mass., for their help in fighting the French during the French and Indian Wars, in 1690. The original name of the settlement was Sudbury Canada. Upon incorporation it was changed to Bethel—or, "House of God," in Hebrew.

The early settlers were farmers, but this changed after the railroad came to the area, in the mid-1800's. From that time on, lumber and wood products became the leading industry of the town.

Some of the plan's recommendations

Below are some of the more significant recommendations of the Comprehensive Plan.

Finding: Natural resources contribute heavily to Bethel's present economy. Abundant forests, productive farmland and high-quality water are the basis for Bethel's wood, recreation and tourist industries.

Recommendation: The selectmen and assessors should encourage landowners to retain and manage their holdings. The most effective methods to accomplish this recommendation are through tax policy and landowner education. The selectmen and assessors should adopt a property-taxation policy that establishes the valuation of land based on the current or actual use of the land.

West Paris selectmen hear zoning question — to restore sidewalks

Norman R. Millett attended last Thursday night's meeting of the West Paris Selectmen to request a variance or zoning change for his property on Route 26. Because his property is within 250 feet of Andrews Brook, it falls under shoreland zoning. Mr. Millett would like the land use changed from Limited Residential and Recreational to General Development to allow for business use.

Selectman Judy McLaughlin agreed to contact the Maine Municipal Association for information about granting a variance.

In other business, the selectmen voted to begin the restoration of the sidewalks on Main Street, under Article 31 of the Town Warrant. They will review the condition of the sidewalks this week and draft an advertisement for bids.

Opinions

District is being shortchanged

To no one's surprise, last Thursday's district meeting called to bring back $200,000 of the $400,000 cut from the $4.2 million school budget flopped. It just never got off the ground.

Only 170 people showed up, compared to the 721 who showed up when the budget was originally decided upon.

At that May 28 meeting, district voters—angered by what they perceived as a lack of concern on the part of district authorities for district economic realities—cut $400,000 from the near-$600,000 increase in the budget as proposed by the school board.

It must be kept in mind that the voters at that May 28 meeting were not saying, "We don't like our school system," as some teachers and administrators felt afterwards. What the voters were saying—faced with taxes that were going to generally increase from 25 to 35 percent if the original budget passed—was, "The school authorities have to set priorities and constrain their spending within the means of district taxpayers to pay."

Following the chopping of the original budget, school district administrators and the school board set about cutting parts from the budget. Teaching positions were cut; curricula materials were cut; new classrooms were cut; a new schoolbus was cut; and lots more. (The complete list of cuts can be found in last week's paper.)

The cuts were severe.

In fact, the cuts were much more severe than they should have been. The district will be shortchanged educationally this coming fiscal year because there is $103,000 that has been stuffed away in a cubbyhole where it cannot be touched. This $103,000 is state money being given to the district for teacher salaries. It is part of a grant of $158,000 given to the district for this coming fiscal year.

By an agreement between the school board and the teachers' negotiating unit, only $55,000 of that grant is being committed to the budget this coming year. The remaining $103,000 is being tucked away—away from the budget, where it could be used to replace a similar amount of money in the teacher salary account, which money could then be used to fund many of the items that have cut from the budget.

The argument for keeping the $103,000 cubbyholed is that it will be needed in fiscal 1988, when beginning salaries will jump—by state mandate—to a minimum of $15,500.

Much has been said about the state issuing mandates and not funding them. This is a case where the state is providing funding. In fiscal 1988, the district will receive an additional $240,000 for teacher salaries—above the $158,000 being received in fiscal 1987.

This information was provided The Citizen by Gary Leighton, a financial consultant in the Department of Education, in Augusta. Mr. Leighton also said the Legislature is planning to increase the percentage of regular state funding to school districts in the following years to permit the higher teacher salaries to be comfortably maintained. Mr. Leighton further said that the great majority of school districts in the state are utilizing the teacher salary grants to offset budget increases in the years they are given.

This is what SAD #44 should also do. The hidden $103,000 can and should be returned to the budget. It can be done by re-opening negotiations on the current teacher contract. There seems to be a willingness on the part of many teachers to use the money this year. All that is needed is the will to start the process.

After the money is taken out of the shoe box, the next step is to get it into the budget. This can be accomplished by the district accepting it as a grant, as authorized by Article 9, passed by district voters at the May 28 meeting.

To keep money in reserve during a severe budget crunch, when important aspects of the educational system are being cut, does not demonstrate fiscal wisdom nor educational concern. The school directors and teachers negotiating unit should immediately set to work to untie the strings on the hidden $103,000.

A note from the publisher

It's been nice having the Maine and Massachusetts National Guard units in town the past two weeks. It's always a pleasure to have interesting and well-mannered visitors in town—and the National Guardsmen were both.

Of course, if the Pentagon had had its way, the Guardsmen would have been down in Honduras, helping the U.S.-backed war effort against Nicaragua. As you know, Gov. Brennan put his foot down earlier this year and said "No way." His lead was followed in short order by Gov. Dukakis, of Massachusetts. And so the Maine and Massachusetts Guard units stayed home.

This independent streak among New England governors got the attention of the Pentagon brass—real quick, too. Now the Reagan administration is pushing legislation that would limit the authority of state governors over their National Guard units. There is also a move afoot to cut off federal funding to units that decline to "train" overseas.

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger says the Maine and Massachusetts governors are meddling in foreign policy.

He also says their concerns about the safety of their local troops are misguided. He called the overseas tours by Guard units "routine and uneventful training evolutions in Central America."

If you believe that one, I want to sell you some stock in the Chernobyl utility company, which runs a routine and uneventful nuclear power plant in the Ukraine.

Last week, while observing the work of the 103rd Engineering Battalion troops as they put a pontoon bridge across the Androscoggin River, I struck up a conversation with a man who was himself an observer of the operation. He was a sergeant from the 9th Infantry Division's engineering battalion, and in addition to going out and evaluating the work of National Guard units, he (and his troops) also occasionally receive assignments to go out and prepare the ground for combat troops overseas.

His most recent assignment was in Honduras. Was it "routine and uneventful?" Not to hear him tell it, it wasn't.

He said he always carried his rifle with him, and it was always loaded with live ammunition. He said he never felt safe the entire three months he was over there.

It seems to me that if the Pentagon brass want to send troops overseas to intimidate foreign countries they ought to be open about it and call it by its right name, not "routine and uneventful training exercises."

In neighboring Rumford, people are holding their breath to see if the negotiations between Boise and its union produce a new contract or if the union walks out.

The company is pushing the union hard to give back a number of economic benefits won over the years. Among the de-

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to respond to a statement made in a letter by Susan K. Flint which was printed in The Citizen of June 4. Contrary to her statement, Dr. John Gehring did not originate the idea for the National Training Laboratories, now known as NTL Institute. I understand that Dr. Gehring practiced a form of psychotherapy in Bethel; it was pure chance that his home was purchased in 1955 by NTL as a conference center for our early programs in group dynamics and human interaction.

NTL as an organization was originated by three eminent educators: Leland B. Bradford, Ronald Lippitt, and Kenneth D. Benne, who were inspired by the ideas of Kurt Lewin, perhaps the greatest innovator and theorist in the brief history of social psychology. The spark that started the process occurred at a workshop conducted in Connecticut in 1946 by Lewin to explore the social problems of the day. Following an unexpected but illuminating sequence of events, Lewin and his colleagues grasped the learning significance of what they had seen. This was that a group engaged in problem-solving can benefit enormously by taking time out to discuss its own dynamics, or "group process," even without special training as observers. After a time, what evolved was the agenda-less group; that is, a group could meet with maximum benefit if it had no formal agenda and no formal problems to discuss other than its own dynamics.

In almost 40 years of existence, NTL Institute has come a long way in developing other kinds of programs. However the T group (as its original form of learning came to be known) is still an important part of the Human Interaction Laboratories and a basis for many of NTL's other program offerings.

To the Editor:

Thank You America And All Your Citizens.

During this 100th anniversary celebration of the Statue of Liberty seems to be the best time to express my sincere thanks to all you have given me. For I am an immigrant. I was born on the shores of the Baltic Sea in a free state (the City of Danzig) [that was] annexed to Germany in 1939. My homeland was destroyed during the end of the 2nd World War and given as war payment to Poland. I became a refugee wandering until I was welcomed to the United States through sponsorship of the Lutheran Church.

I arrived in August 1956 aboard a refugee transport ship in New York harbor and on that early damp morning, seeing the sunlight glistening on the Statue of Liberty I did not realize what this Statue means to me now. I arrived not speaking your language with $50 in my pocket, a lost person in a sea of humanity.

From the first moment I stepped on your soil one of you gave me directions, one of you helped me find my bags, my first train to Boston, and one of you gave me my first job as a carpenter's helper. Without all your help from then to where mands being made by the company are those concerning overtime pay, vacation time, and medical benefits.

Obviously, union veterans are loath to give up benefits they fought hard to win in years past. But they should be realistic. Boise's wage scale is much higher than any other employer's in the area. Working at Boise is considered getting on the gravy train.

This is not as it should be. Boise should expect to have to pay a fair wage for good work, and workers there—including managers—should expect to receive pay commensurate with their skills and productive capabilities.

Union officials should be able to see that a fight to hold onto benefits will result in permanent loss of jobs for many workers. A strike will be disastrous to the community—not just Rumford, but the wider community as well. Right here in Bethel, we have 28 people who work at the mill, not to mention the scores of loggers who sell pulpwood there.

Everyone is watching the negotiations and hoping the union will agree to give up some benefits and the company will agree to keep employment at its current levels.

June 30 is the last day for Dr. Pixie Williams at the Bethel Area Health Center. She's off to do some teaching in Augusta and then expects to enter a medical office in the Norway area. She and husband Bob Elliott will continue to live in this area, however.

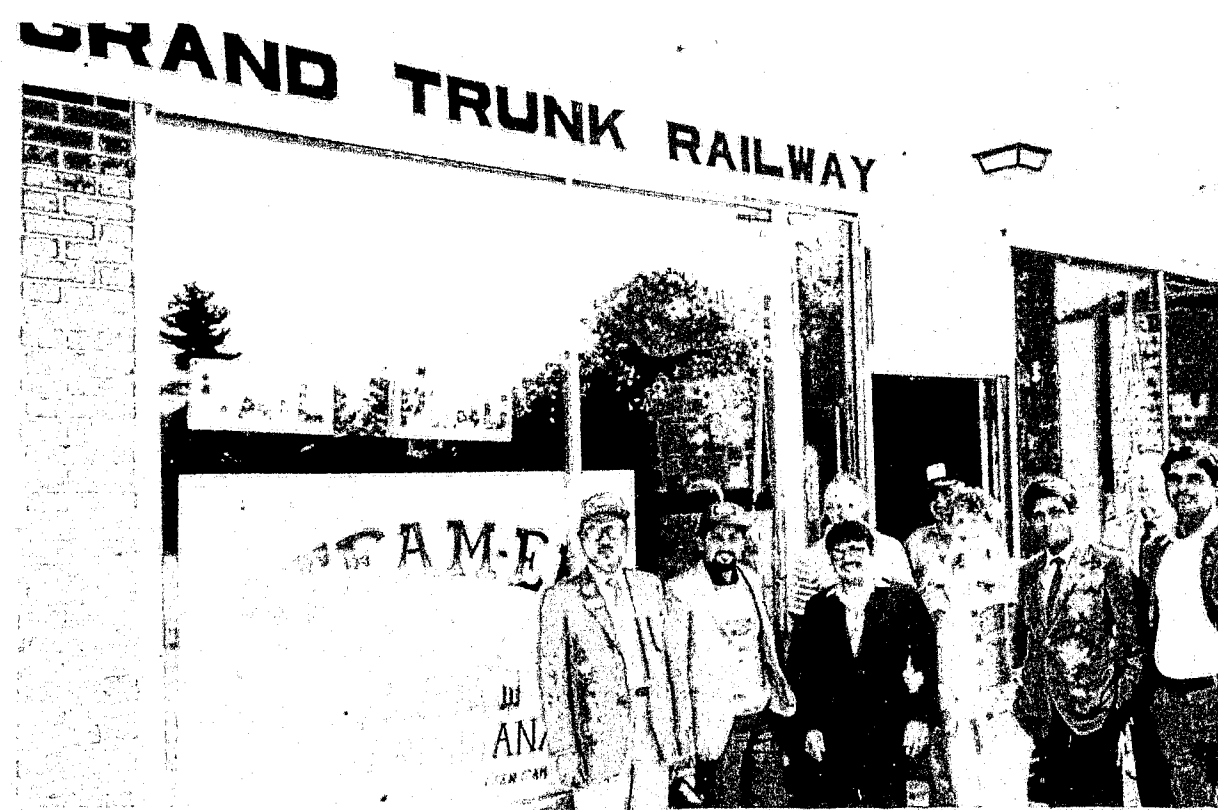

Pixie has served the community exceedingly well during her five years at the health center, and we'll miss her.

Kindergartners at Woodstock Elementary School are going to miss their favorite teacher—Amy Davis. Amy decided it's time for a change, and we wish her well.

To the Editor:

Please accept this letter in response to the quote attributed to me in the last issue regarding support of Chamber of Commerce activities.

The quote indicated that I said the Chamber activities should not be supported. I said that I fully supported the activities of the Chamber, however that Chamber activities should be paid for with monies raised by the Chamber and not with money raised through taxation. There is a major difference.

Merton Brown
Bethel

I am now I could never have made it. I became a citizen in 1962. I served my country as a U.S. Marine and I am very proud and very, very grateful to be here among the people in my new home in Maine.

I too have seen the decline of the dollar. My first car was a 6 year old Plymouth purchased for $150 in perfect running condition; my weekly food bill was $10; my monthly rent for a fully furnished apartment on Wollaston Beach was $65, all utilities included; gasoline was 19 cents a gallon.

Sure things have changed but only in the good old U.S.A. things are still better than anywhere else on the Earth. Just pay attention — Question: Unlimited police powers in South Africa? Question: Terrorism all over Europe? Question: Revolution all over Central America? Question: Dictatorships in Chile? Oppression in Russia. Open your eyes and it's easy to see that your home is the best on this planet and if you still can't understand just ask me and I will try my best to explain it to you.

Yes, I know there are a lot of things that could be better, fairer or need improvement but I also know that democracy still works—proof of the pudding locally, the budget meetings of SAD #44. I am sure with the help from all concerned, this community will continue to grow and be better for the experience. Only in America can you rely on fairness, freedom, friendship and liberty to this extent.

Yes, I am proud to be your countryman and neighbor and I hope this 4th of July you will look at the dedication of the Statue of Liberty through the eyes of some of your neighbors, immigrants from foreign shores.

The following poem or creed if you will expresses my personal convictions best. It was written a long time ago by Dean Alfange and if more of us would adhere to it some of the ills of our country would be healed.

"I do not choose to be a common man."

"It is my right to be uncommon—if I can. I seek opportunity—not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me."

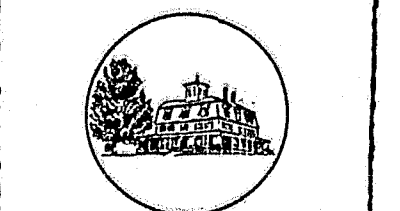

"I want to take the calculated risk;

In last week's story on the Woodstock referendum on wine and beer sales, although the ballot referred to beer and wine, the sense of the question was concerning only wine sales. Thus, the defeated question on Sunday sales would apply only to denying the sale of wine, according to town officials. Beer sales will still be allowed on Sunday.

In last week's tabulation of comparative scores between 4th-graders at Agnes Gray School and Woodstock Elementary School, two typographical errors were made in the Woodstock column. (The correct figures for Woodstock appeared in the June 11 issue.) The correct comparative figures are as follows:

MSAD #44 Directors' meeting

The SAD #44 Board of Directors met in regular session at the Andover Elementary School on Monday evening of this week.

The resignation of Andy Aron of Upton as a bus driver/maintenance person was accepted. Authorization was granted to post a vacancy in the position.

The superintendent was granted authorization to accept staff resignations occurring between June 23 and July 11 and post resulting vacancies.

The board tabled any action necessary regarding acceptance of the "SAD #44 School Improvement Plan" until the regular meeting of Monday, July 14.

A revised school calendar for the 1986-87 year that includes Martin Luther King Jr. Day (the third Monday in January) as a school holiday. The calendar includes five storm days. If all storm days are utilized school will end on June 17, 1987, with the Telstar graduation scheduled for Thursday, June 18. If more than five storm days are used, days missed will be added at the end of the year.

Authorization was granted to post vacancies in coaching and co-curricular positions for the 1986-87 school year.

Directors not present Monday evening were: Al Barth, Bethel; Dan Cole, Greenwood; Rick McVey, Newry; and Sheryl Wilbur, Woodstock.

The next regularly scheduled SAD #44 board meeting is at 7:30 Monday evening, July 14, at Telstar Regional High School.

TELSTAR MIDDLE SCHOOL PARENTS GROUP HOLDS FINAL MEETING FOR YEAR

The Telstar Middle School Parents Group met June 10 to discuss plans for the next school year. Due to the recent budget cuts the group felt it could best serve the school in a support capacity. Many exciting ideas were discussed including helping with the newly formed marching band which lost its funding. A weekly events calendar for all Telstar activities is another idea the group will propose. This would serve to create enthusiasm as well as attendance at school activities. The group is also looking for community support and will be contacting local groups to help in a volunteer capacity. It is hoped the middle school staff will work with this parent group to develop a stronger middle school. Any middle school parents are invited to join this enthusiastic group in the fall.

COMPREHENSIVE PLAN ISSUED

The tri-county area (Oxford, Androscoggin and Franklin counties) produces an estimated 26 percent of the state's lumber product value. Forest-product mills in Bethel have the potential to produce about 25 million board feet annually.

Bethel is 81 percent forested, with 35,000 acres of commercial forestland. Approximately 62 percent of Bethel forestland is owned by individuals, with the remaining 38 percent owned by forest industries.

Aside from the 81 percent of Bethel's 44,000 acres in forest, the second-largest area is devoted to agricultural land—7.7 percent. Wetlands account for 7 percent of the total area of the town, while the urban, or built-up area, accounts for just 1.8 percent. Water area accounts for another 1.8 percent.

The coming of the railroad not only opened up markets for Bethel's wood products, it generally caused the local economy to hum. And this brought a great influx of people to town.

The historic peak of Bethel's population occurred in 1860, when just over 2,500 people were living in town. This fell to a modern-day low of 1,792, in 1920.

The town has generally been recovering since then, although there was a decline in population in the 1960's. In 1970

The historic peak of Bethel's population occurred in 1860, when just over 2,500 people were living in town. This fell to a modern-day low of 1,792, in 1920.

the population was 2,220, while in 1980 the population had grown 5.4 percent, to 2,340.

The population has been growing older. In 1970, 38 percent of the local population was 19-or-under. In 1980, the 19-or-under group accounted for only 32 percent of the population. The largest segment of the population is currently between 25 and 55.

Population is expected to remain stable through 1990, but the school-age portion of the population, area-wide, is expected to increase again. Between 1980 and 1984, student enrollment in grades K-12 dropped 10 percent—from 1,165 to 1,048. But by 1990, enrollment is expected to be up around 1,300. Bethel's portion of school district enrollment has remained about 45 percent of the total.

While wood-based industries have traditionally been the basis of the local economy, this is now changing, as a result of the influx of visitors brought in by Sunday River Ski Resort, Mt. Abram Ski Slopes, National Training Laboratories, Gould Academy and the Bethel Inn conference center.

Bethel has three mills that buy softwood sawlogs. (One of these also buys hardwood sawlogs.) There are also three mills in town that buy hardwood bolts and sawlogs.

Within a 35-mile radius of town, there are nine mills sawing softwood logs and seven sawing hardwood logs, as well as 11 boltwood mills. Four major pulp and paper mills lie within 60 miles of town.

With all the mills and forests around, it is not surprising that the principal manufacturing activity involves pulp and paper, logging, lumber and a variety of wood products, including dowels, glue plies, glued panels, and biomass fuel chips.

Nevertheless, the percent of manufacturing accounted for by wood-based industries has begun to slowly but surely decline. In 1976 lumber and wood manufacturing totalled 98.86 percent of total manufacturing in town. In 1983 this had dropped to 97.71 percent.

The place of manufacturing in general in the local economy has also been declining, so that forest products are holding a declining share in a declining sector. Thus, the local economy is becoming more balanced. In 1980, just 28 percent of Bethel's labor force was employed in the manufacturing sector of the economy. [This number has probably gone up since the figures were compiled due to the establishment of a garment factory in town.]

The existence of a healthy local economy means that most Bethelites are able to work in town. In 1980, 69 percent of the local work force worked in town. This compares to only 42 percent of people in other Oxford County towns being able to work in their hometowns.

The total number in the local labor force is estimated at nearly 1,100. About 1,000 of these have regular jobs, up about 100 from 1970.

The increasing number of jobs is being provided mainly in the commercial, financial, business and repair services, professional and public administration sectors.

While the major tourism sites—Sunday River, Mt. Abram, and the White Mountain National Forest—are not in Bethel proper, Bethel serves as a host and service center for these areas. While the degree of importance to Bethel of the rapid increase taking place in tourism is difficult to quantify, some indication is available from looking at retail taxable sales.

In 1980, total taxable retail sales were $4.6 million—up 4 percent from the year before. In 1981, these sales were up 7 percent. In 1982 they were up 15 percent, and another 15 percent in 1983. In 1984 (the last year tabulated), they were up 33 percent, to $8.7 million. The greatest advances were made in building supplies and hardware, restaurants and lodging, and general consumer sales.

Between 1980 and 1984, taxable sales at Bethel's restaurants and lodging places increased 76 percent. This compares to a state average increase of 54 percent over the same period.

Between 1980 and 1984, taxable sales at Bethel's restaurants and lodging places increased 76 percent. This compares to a state average increase of 54 percent over the same period.

While total population has stayed stable, building permits show that about 40 new residences have been built from 1980 to 1985, while nearly 100 permits have been taken out for additions and renovations.

A survey in 1980 by the Maine State Planning Office estimated that 21 percent of Bethel's housing was substandard. In the 1980 census, 63 of the 876 occupied dwelling units were found to have incomplete plumbing facilities.

Nearly 50 percent of Bethel's housing units are on town water, while nearly 40 percent are on town sewers.

The sewer system could accommodate many more users were it not for the fact that much of its capacity is used up by infiltration of water. A 1979 study concluded that over 1 million gallons per day of water finds its way into the sewer system, using up capacity at the treatment facility.

Public transportation has been decreasing over the years. As recently as the 1960s, Bethel was served by two commercial bus lines and one local taxi company. Today, there is just Western Maine Transportation Services, Inc., which provides service for elderly, handicapped and low income residents of the tri-county area. WMTS provides a weekly round-trip bus service: two weeks to Rumford and two weeks to Lewiston. Those using the service pay a modest fee, while the town contributes about $700 annually.

A fleet of 28 school buses carry Bethel youngsters—and the other students of the district—to and from school and school activities. In the 1983-84 school year, the school buses covered 271,873 miles.

The Canadian National Railroad operates two trains a day through Bethel, transporting feed, coal, paper, forest products, cement, fuel oil, agricultural products, fertilizer, flour, chemicals and miscellaneous items. But the majority of products entering and leaving Bethel are transported by truck.

The busiest stretch of road in Bethel is Bridge Street, near the Cross Street intersection. The total average daily count of vehicles passing this point within a 24-hour period was 3,765. (The count was done in 1979.)

Continental Telephone Co. serves about 1,500 customers in the Bethel area.

Other busy streets were Lower Main Street, near the Cross Street intersection (3,670 vehicles in 24 hours); Main Street at the monument intersection (3,555 vehicles); and Rte. 26 between the Cross Street and Middle Intervale intersections (3,395 vehicles).

There are 650 box holders and 650 rural-route customers served by the Bethel and West Bethel post offices. Some 230 Bethel residents of Bird Hill, Gore Road and Route 232 receive mail through the Bryant Post office.

Continental Telephone Co. serves about 1,500 customers in the Bethel area, while Bethel Cablevision serves about 75 percent of the residents located in the areas where cable has gone in.

The Bethel Library, which is funded by the town and private gifts, has approximately 13,000 volumes. In 1984, the library loaned out a total of 9,154 volumes to adults and 6,857 volumes to children.

There are a number of cemeteries in town, most of which are privately owned. There is ample room in the cemeteries—Riverside in particular—for the coming years. However, space is limited or unavailable in some cemeteries.

Hearing conservationists now available at health center

Muriel Whitney R.N., of the Bethel Area Health Center recently attended a seminar at Mid-Maine Medical Center to become a Certified Hearing Conservationist. The course was approved by the Council for Accreditation in Occupational Hearing Conservation.

Two Certified Hearing Conservationists are now at the Health Center. Linda Blake and Muriel Whitney are available to test the hearing of the area mill employees and to set up Hearing Conservation Programs as desired.

The Health Center has an audiometer that tests to 6000 Hz. This is above the level of requirement of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration along with a sound proof booth that also meets O.S.H.A.'s ambient noise level requirement. In addition, a licensed audiologist is under contract at the center who interprets the tests and his expertise is available locally for any necessary follow-up.

There are many advantages to both employees for being aware of hearing conservation. Naturally, the most important part of the program is to conserve the hearing of employees. In order to accomplish this, an initial hearing test (called a base-line audiogram) is done and retained as a reference from year to year. Then, annually tests are done on employees, interpreted by the center's audiologist, and protective follow-up measures can be initiated before hearing loss progresses. Annual testing must be done with one year and routinely compared to the baseline audiogram in order to identify changes in hearing ability. There are other components of the program such as education and training which will be available from the Bethel Area Health Center.

- Coffee table should be about the same height as the chairs and sofa around it. Ideally, it should be big enough to hold a tray for drinks—or coffee—plus attractive objects or flowers.
- Washing the outside of your house may eliminate the need to repaint, or at least postpone it. Working from the bottom up, scrub with a strong TSP detergent solution. Long-handled brush makes it easier.
- Round wooden picture frames, painted to complement a room's color scheme, can hold loops of fabric to create a valance.
- Unfinished furniture is sanded before you buy it, but not smoothly enough to insure a perfect finish. Outside corner joints and edges, especially where the end grain of the wood is exposed, need special attention.

Finding: The strength of Bethel's economy lies in its diversity as: forest-products processor, agricultural producer, winter-sports base, four-season tourist destination, skilled-worker pool, educational leader, lodging-and-victuals dispenser, health-service center, local shopping magnet, and simply as a pleasant and rewarding place to live.

Recommendation: The selectman and the Chamber of Commerce should work together to keep the economy humming by perpetuating and expanding Bethel's diversity. An appropriation for support of the Chamber of Commerce should be included in Bethel's annual budget.

Finding: The developmental pressure which Bethel is now experiencing can be expected to continue, and perhaps to accelerate. Properly channeled, development could be of great benefit to the town.

Recommendation: The town should adopt a land-use plan.

Finding: Bethel's unique charm and appeal can be spoiled by unsightly signs.

Recommendation: The town should adopt a sign ordinance.

Finding: Bethel's sanitary landfill is fast-approaching the end of its useful life. One town official estimates Bethel's current landfill site will be full by 1990-91.

Recommendation: The selectmen should: locate and plan for a new landfill; and consider alternatives to reduce landfill impact. Alternatives could include: composting organic materials; recycling appropriate materials; locating outlets for refuse burning for generation of electricity; and public education.

Finding: Bethel's sewage system and treatment plant are outmoded, overloaded and ailing.

Recommendation: Bethel's municipal officers should let the voters know, before the public health is threatened, what needs to be done and what the costs will be.

Finding: The sad condition of Rte. 26 discourages vacationers, frustrates commuters, stymies business travelers and endangers the lives of all who travel this way.

Recommendation: The selectmen should apply whatever leverage lies within their power to have Rte. 26 upgraded to a decent standard of safety and serviceability.

Finding: The location of Rte. 5 is inconvenient and confusing to through traffic.

Recommendation: The selectmen should persuade the state highway authorities to delay no longer in reducing traffic through the center of town by routing Rte. 5 traffic via Lover's Lane instead of Mill Hill/Broad Street/Church Street.

Finding: Cross Street is much used as a Rte. 26 shortcut. As presently constructed and maintained, Cross Street is

James D. Delamater

Delamater named chairman of Maine savings bank association

James D. Delamater, president and chief executive officer of the Bethel Savings Bank, FSB, has been elected 1986-87 Chairman of the Savings Bank Association of Maine. He succeeds Richard B. Paige, chairman and chief executive officer of Coastal Savings Bank.

Mr. Delamater has been president of Bethel Savings since 1981. Before that he was business development officer at Oxford Bank & Trust for six years. He is a veteran of the U.S. Air Force and attended the University of South Carolina and the University of Maine at Augusta.

He is a director of the Maine Handicapped Ski Program and the Crockett Foundation and is chairman of the board of Financial Security Corporation in Gray. He has been very active in civic organizations throughout his career.

not a safe route for such a volume of traffic.

Recommendation: Bethel's municipal officers should include as a high priority the upgrading of Cross Street in any plans for the improvement of the town's highway network.

Finding: When a child is struggling to attain an education, classroom overcrowding and substandard facilities are highly disruptive hazards.

Recommendation: The Board of Directors of SAD #44 should place a high priority on the space needs at the Bethel schools. Portable classrooms are hardly a solution to these needs.

Finding: The state Legislature's habit of mandating educational programs without advance notice and without adequate funding creates serious problems in the local tax structure.

Recommendations: The selectmen should join with the selectmen of other towns comprising SAD #44 and the directors of SAD #44 to work through the Maine Municipal Association and the state Legislature to review educational funding.

National Guard converts Bethel into training area

National Guard units from two states turned the Bethel area into a military training ground the past two weeks, and made a lot of friends doing it.

Nearly 400 troops belonging to four different Guard units have leveled fields, repaired roads, built bridges, and engaged in combat training. They finish up later this week.

The units involved have been the 101st Engineering Battalion, from Reading, Mass.; the 133rd Engineering Battalion, from Lewiston; the 262nd Engineering Battalion, from Norway; and the mountain unit of the 172nd Infantry Regiment, from throughout New England.

Local onlookers have gone out to watch the proceedings at the various encampments of the troops. On the banks of the Androscoggin River, the Massachusetts Guardsmen have been struggling to build pontoon bridges across the river. At Telstar Regional High School, elements of the 133rd have been leveling the playing fields. The 133rd has also been building barracks at Bog Brook and has worked with the 262nd to build and repair bridges at Ketchum, along the Sunday River.

The mountain troops have been holding combat maneuvers in the mountains of Newry. The 133rd underwent simulated combat conditions in the woods adjacent to the Bethel airport.

The troops camped out during the entire period: at Ketchum, in Pat Murphy's field, and at the airport. They came into town regularly, however, for various supplies, and to take showers at Telstar.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch said the most difficult aspect of preparing for the troops' invasion of the area was finding enough portable toilets. (He finally did.)

The town also is allowing all the troops free use of the landfill, and the Bethel Water District is supplying water to the various encampments.

Although the units prepared their own meals, with food trucked in to them, nevertheless, the influx of troops has been a boon for food and convenience stores. Bear sales were reported especially strong. However there were no untoward incidents. In fact, all the comments about the troops have been positive.

Members of the 133rd endeavored themselves to local citizens when it was learned the troops were caring for a fawn that was found caught in a pipe near the field where they are encamped. They freed the fawn, took it to Augusta for x-rays, set it in a box where its mother could look in on it and fed it formula from a bottle.

When the fawn began visibly failing, the troops took it to the state wildlife shelter, in Norway. Unfortunately the infant deer died earlier this week.

National Guard units train for two weeks a year, in addition to the one day a month the troops serving during the year.

Because Maine Gov. Joseph Brennan and Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis (and two other governors) refused to let their state Guard units go to Honduras for training, as directed by the Pentagon, the Congress is now discussing a plan to limit the authority of governors over their state Guards.

What a wet month of June we have had. It looks like more of the same according to the 13th.

Esther Davis, Ethel and Erland Twitchell and Edith Deegan attended a cookout at the home of Patricia Tibbetts in Oxford Sunday. This was for Pat's daughter, Jackie in honor of her birthday and her going away to be a counselor in a summer camp. Other guests were Wendy Poland, Jerry Shorer and Neil Tibbetts.

Jim Miclon is on vacation. He went to Ashland on a fishing trip. Mrs. Miclon is vacationing in camp a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Marcotte took Olive Davis with them to Rumford where they assisted the Rumford Grange in conferring the 3rd and 4th degrees.

Roger Benson is coaching the little league ball team this summer. They had practice Sunday at the ball park at Bryant Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks, a guest Beatrice Eames, Olive Davis and Kay Billings attended Franklin Grange Monday night. They came home in a thunder-shower and torrential rain. We hope all the other members returned home safely.

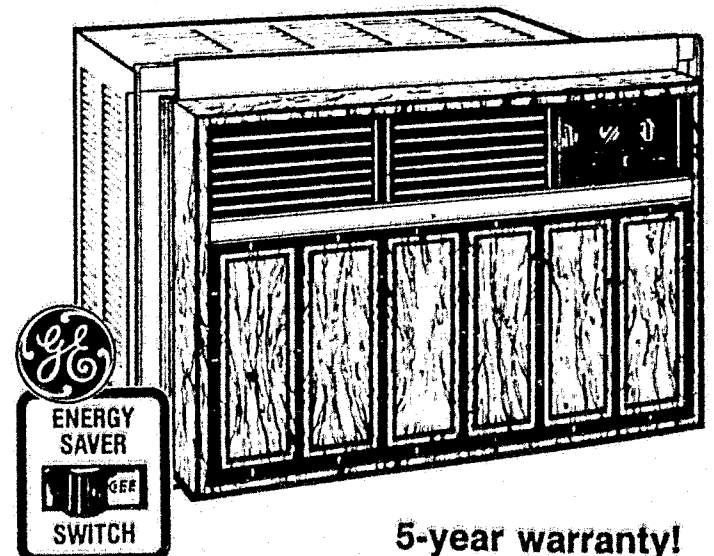

They also serve who sit and wait: A member of the Massachusetts Guard's 101st Engineering Battalion waits for pontoon bridge sections to be put in the water so that his company could build a bridge across the Androscoggin, between Northwest Bethel and West Bethel.

Sunday morning and I am half asleep as I try to type this writing. Have been at my daughter's this past week and I'm just not as young as I used to be nor as agile. It is hard to keep up with two small children when they get going. However, I enjoy being with them and Karlann finally started to walk alone some so was glad I was there to watch her. Of course, I had to be sick for a day or so and that didn't help me gain any spunk to keep up with them. The way Karlann runs when in her walker and Courtney whirles around the house on her little trike that she pushes with her feet is enough to make anyone's head whirl. They have so much fun chasing one another and giggling, as girls will do even at that age, that it makes one laugh just to watch and listen. It also makes one realize what it may be like in another year or so when they are older and get to carrying on. They have fun and it is fun to watch them.

Wynona was so busy getting ready for her adult education graduation that she didn't have too much time for the children so Nana got to see a lot of them. They are good and mind me pretty well and that is a big help. Nona had a good graduation for her adult education people and had about 16 get their diplomas. They were all happy to know they had them and it meant a lot to Nona after all the hard work she has put in to have good classes and get a lot of adults to take courses there. She has had a heavy load and not many spare minutes to herself. I am proud of her for the accomplishment she made this year in getting several to go for diplomas instead of just going for the G.E.D. tests. It made her happy that she could influence some of them to graduate and have the satisfaction of getting diplomas as the high school graduates do, also.

I asked Russell what he had done this week and he said a little of this, some of that and whatever he could do, so don't know just what went on around here. Peggy was in Massachusetts for the week and got home yesterday. She hadn't been here very long when I arrived home. Had expected to get home sooner but Nona wanted to go car hunting so we went yesterday morning and took a ride in two different cars.

Peggy, Russell and I went to the alumni banquet at Bethel and took Mary Smith with us. She was in the same class that Peggy was in and as we had plenty of room, we went and picked her up at her home and took her to the banquet with us. It is always good to go and see how many of our old friends and classmates are there. There was a good turnout for the supper and the food was delicious as usual. We met many friends from the past years in Bryant Pond and school and it was so nice to see so many there. Quite a few came that hadn't been there in the years we have been going and it was great to see them again, if only for a short while. I hope we can go again another year as it is always so interesting and fun to see old friends.

I was in Farmington last Monday to see the rheumatologist and then to North Bridgton to see my doctor who I see every week. It was quite a day and lots of miles covered. Should have gone to

Locke Mills

By LORRAINE MILLS

Congratulations to Lee and Mary Mills who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Thursday, June 19. They said they didn't want any party so it was a rather quiet day. I remember another couple who said the same thing so come their 60th anniversary they really caught it! So be prepared, folks! Seriously though it's really great to hear about 50th anniversaries. We'd like to see a lot more of them.

Reminder: The Locke Mills Union Church on Thursday, June 26 will hold its Strawberry Festival. Time will be 3-7 p.m. This year there will be commemorative T-shirts besides the usual short-cake and berries by the quart.

The town offers its sincerest sympathy to the family of Lester Cole who died Saturday at the Market Square Health Care Facility in South Paris.

Tuesday, Beatrice Eames of Falmouth Foreside spent the day with Mary Mills. She is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks of West Paris.

Reminder: The drawing for the Greenwood Fire Department Auxiliary's summer fund raiser will be held July 1. Auxiliary members are reminded to turn in their tickets and money preferably by the end of the week (Saturday, June 28).

John and Lorraine Mills visited Pat and Ersel Murphy Friday afternoon at their home. Rev. and Mrs. Elwood Negley, Nathaniel and Jedidiah, also stopped by.

Saturday, June 14, Dwight and Blaine Mills took their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mills out to dinner at the Auburn Village Inn in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. Those present besides the honored couple were Dwight and Janice Mills, their three boys and a friend, and Blaine and Margaret Mills.

The Gilbert Manufacturing Company will start their vacation period Saturday, June 28. It will run for two weeks.

There must be a lot of news I'm not getting folks because when I call no one is home. Please feel free to call me. If there is no answer, keep trying; I'm usually not far away.

South Paris for an appointment on Friday but was sick so didn't make it. I would like to correct an error in last week's writing. It was Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith who came to visit Peggy instead of James. Don't know what I was thinking of but James is their son. Just got mixed up and got the wrong name so wanted to correct it.

Russell has gone out this morning to see what he can do in the garden. Hope it stays good today so he can get some work done and so others can get outside to do whatever they have to do. I feel as though we have had enough rain for awhile, but as we have no control over the weather, will have to take whatever comes. However, we can all hope for a few good days and do a little praying to see if it will help.

Guess I will call this enough for this week and hope to be more awake next time I write. It is hard to think of everything when one is sleepy. I'm just not used to staying up late and getting up early. Hope I haven't made any mistakes this week.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

The West Paris Historical Society met Monday evening at Snow Falls picnic area for a cookout and meeting. Mione Record brought some very interesting pictures of the area for us to look at. The next meeting will be on July 21 at Beverly Glines' cottage on North Pond, Locke Mills. A picnic/cookout will precede the meeting.

Despite the rainy weather, the following left on last Friday to go camping at Winslow Memorial Park in Freeport: Vance and Connie Bacon, Stan and Maxine Cram, Vince and Beverly Stevens, Stacey and Darcy, Everett and DeDe Chase. They say it turned out to be a nice weekend weatherwise and they had an enjoyable time.

School is out and so are the grandchildren out visiting their grandparents.

Mandy Morse and friend Tricia Spaulding of Oakland and Carol Lamb of Poland have been visiting Sayward and Cynthia Lamb the past week.

Benjamin Merrill of Waterford has been with Ivan and Ann Proctor and Uncle Jr. during this week.

Todd and Tony Bouchard spent the past weekend with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Carey in Waterville.

Alta Waterhouse entertained her grandson, Joey Beane of Oxford, last weekend and Jana Beane spent the weekend with her aunt Kim Inman.

Vernie Inman spent the weekend with his aunt Mary Beane in Oxford. Vernon Inman returned Monday after a weekend of fishing at Nesowadnekunk Lake with Dr. Glenn Wood and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hamby, Seattle, Wash., left on Monday to return home after spending the last three weeks with her sisters, Mary Emery and Clara and husband Charles Gordon.

The West Paris Alumni Association gathered for its annual banquet on Saturday evening at the Grange Hall with a large attendance. Tri-Town Rescue Service put on a delicious turkey buffet. There were nine of the 13 graduates of the 50 year honor class present. They were Mary Jacobson Emery, Phyllis Welch Young and Glen Emery of West Paris; Pauline Young Smith of South Paris; Faye Morgan Holt and Zilpha Barrows DiArenzo of Greenwood; Milna Komulainen Bylander of Salem, N.H.; Lillian Jacobson Hamby of Seattle, Wash., and Tynne Schroeder Bemis of San Jose, Calif.

Those present from the 20 year class were: Pamela Olson Baker, Linda Braden Liumatta and Alvin Yates of West Paris; Bonnie Ellingwood Gammon of Bryant Pond; Brenda Farr Smith of New Gloucester; Alan Pray of Mechanic Falls; Ann Holt of Bethel; Charles Lowe, South Woodstock; Marcia Benson of Massachusetts; Janet Emery Knapp of Connecticut; and David Olson of Texas. Eleven of the 16 graduates was a good turnout. They received a letter from Joseph Lamb who teaches art history at the University of Southern California. Of

Andover

East Andover
By LAURA HUTCHINS

A calm, cool, cloudy Friday after the fierce windblow. A frost yesterday morning left many blackened leaves on our garden plants. Most of them will probably recuperate in time. However, a neighbor lost his entire garden. It is most discouraging after all the nurturing it takes to get plants started. A very strange season!

The cedar waxwings have arrived and have been working diligently, trying to detach pieces from a frayed end of my clothesline rope.

Mrs. Alan Stinson and daughter, Miranda of Bethel accompanied Mrs. Ralph Stinson, East Andover, to North Windham on June 14. There they attended the presentation of Hansel and Gretel performed by the Children's Dance Theater group, which included Miss Rachel Stinson, age nine, granddaughter of Marge Stinson.

Harold Hutchins visited us on Sunday afternoon. He brought a lovely New Guinea impatiens plant to Bernard for Father's Day. I never saw a plant so thoroughly covered with buds and blooms. It is amazing to see all the new ones that open each day and they don't seem to shed like our regular impatiens. It makes a bright accent hanging in our locust tree.

* Many from Andover and East Andover went to Denmark to pick strawberries last Monday. The picking was not as good as other years, but we got some berries. The rainy weather has made them start molding already and they weren't as ripe as usual.

There were ten Ladies Aid Society members who met at the C.E.B. last Tuesday, including our faithful Mrs. Marion Bodwell of Bethel. A brief business meeting was conducted by Dolly Jones. Rev. E. Mariotte Churchhill led discussion on Elizabeth, mother of John, as we continue our study on women of the Bible. Toy parts were stuffed, followed by a potluck luncheon. The next meeting is July 8 when we will have a mystery ride and picnic (and hope for warmer weather).

Two young men who were attempting to leave one of the islands in Richardson Lake, in a canoe Tuesday morning, capsized in the fierce wind. The dam keeper from Middle Dam rescued them in his boat. The Andover rescue unit responded to the call and, after picking them up at South Arm, met the other ambulance at Andover, by which they were transported to Rumford Community Hospital. One was treated and released, but the other one was in critical condition, suffering from hypothermia. The latest reports indicate he is improving.

Robert "Woody" Greeske, Andover, has been a patient at Rumford Community Hospital, but is now home.

Mrs. Nellie Howard, Andover, has been a surgical patient at C.M.M.C. in Lewiston and was due to come home the latter part of the week, barring any unforeseen problems.

Mrs. Armand Michaud, former Andover resident, is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Florena McEwen of Bethel has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lorena

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

A lovely time was had on the annual trip to Story Land for the Newry children. The Mothers Club paid the admission of 28 Newry children. There was a total of 85 people in all, some from Bethel and 5 people in Newry.

The following Newry ladies went bowling in Rumford on June 17: Thelma Lowery, high single string with 105, and high three strings; Louise Tetley, Boots Morton, Nancy Wight, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Gretchen Wight, Eleanor Davis, Olive Anderson, and guest Rena Powers. On June 10 Karlene Bacheider was high single scorer with 102 and also high in the three string. Also bowling were Louise Tetley, Thelma Lowery, Eleanor Davis, Olive Anderson, Bea Lowell, Gil Seeley, Betsy Clark, and Rena Powers as guest.

I feel very sure that our club members or anyone else would not plan, and carry out plans, regardless of work and time involved, supposedly to benefit our church, and keep part of the proceeds for themselves.

Dr. Matthew Wight was guest speaker at Newry Community Church June 8. Pastor Rodney Hanscom gave the Father's Day message June 15. His eleven and a half month old twin grandsons, Adam and Eric Hanscom, attended this service.

The Ladies Circle met June 2. Election of officers was held. All were re-elected except the vice president was replaced by Olive Anderson. The next meeting is to be held Monday, July 7, at 7:30 at Olive Anderson's.

Amy Hanscom returned to her apartment from Rumford Community Hospital June 17, much better but a little unsteady. Roger was ill Thursday. Several relatives and friends have called and helped us for which we are grateful.

Simmons of Andover this week.

The snowmachine bridge construction has been started this week by members of the Maine National Guard. It will be a much safer crossing place when completed.

Don't forget the next church supper, Saturday, June 28, two sittings at 5:30 and 6:15. For your eating pleasure there will be turkey pot pie, hot biscuits, molded salads, fresh strawberry shortcake with whipped cream and beverage.

Work began this week on the steeple area and the roofs of the First Congregational Church. New shingles will be put on and the steeple area will be screened to keep out the pigeons, and rotted areas will be replaced.

Mrs. Preston Cobb, Miranda, Calla and little Preston of Bryant Pond accompanied Mrs. Bernard Hutchins to Lovell on Friday, June 20, to attend a birthday party for Karen Adams in honor of her fourth birthday. Her other grandmother, Mrs. Robert Farrington, held the party at her home in Lovell. Karen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Adams of Sweden.

CARD OF THANKS
Thanks for the cards, flowers, plants, and many get well wishes. They are deeply appreciated.

Work begins on new triple chair at skiway

Work began recently on the Sunday River Ski Resort's new South Ridge Triple Chair. So far, six lift towers are in place.

To date, the towers have been placed with cranes. In mid-July, however, helicopters will be used to place the lift towers on the side of the steeper slopes of the mountain.

Helicopters will again be needed in August when the Spruce Peak Triple Chair is put into place.

According to the skiway's operations manager, Burt Mills, lift and trail construction are ahead of schedule.

Rotary Club notes

The Bethel Rotary Club held its regular luncheon meeting at the Sudbury Inn on June 24.

Visiting Rotarians and guests at this meeting were Bill Lowther, Bonton, N.J.; Charlie Feld, Marco Island, Fla.; Mike Thurston, Rumford; and Curtis Cole, Oxford Hills. Following the invocation by summer chaplain Bill Lowther, lunch was served.

This week's lucky winner was Romeo Baker, who donated his winnings to the Rotary fund. Dave Preble, attendance co-chairman, announced that team #2 holds a ten point lead as of this meeting.

The District 779, Rotary sponsored Group Study Exchange Group from India, was in Bethel on Friday, June 20. The group visited the Chadbourne lumber mill, the Railroad Museum and the Bethel Historical Society's Dr. Moses Mason House. Bethel Rotary sincerely appreciates and thanks the management and directors of these facilities for their contribution to this program. A special thank you to George Noll and Ray Harrington for acting as liaison and hosts.

Dave Preble and Rick Whitney co-ordinated the movement of the team from Thursday to Saturday. Dave Preble and Jim Monahan transported the group to The Balsams hotel on Saturday morning. Attending the conference at The Balsams on Friday were Roger and Lillian Conant, Rick Whitney, Dave Preble and Jim Monahan. The conference was one of the best ever. John Head was the local area coordinator for the District Governor. A brief report on the conference was given to the membership by Dave Preble.

This meeting was basically confined to the installation of officers for the Rotary year 1986-1987. Dave Preble is the incoming president; Rick Whitney is president-elect; John Head continues as secretary. Other officers and directors are Jim Monahan, past president; John Elliot, treasurer; John MacMunn, sergeant-at-arms; directors of the four avenues of service, Bill Clough, Bernie Wideman, Bob Saunders and Scott Dennis.

All Rotary members were informed that a poolside social will be sponsored by Phil and Rollie Glines on Saturday, July 5. It's always fun at the Glines' so bring your suntan lotion and swimsuit for a great day.

Tri-Town Rescue

Training meeting this month is Wednesday night at Ledgewick. Zeba Wiedler is conducting the training on interpersonal communication skills as they effect the scene and follow-up after a difficult call. The group will role-play a variety of situations which call for good communication.

The board of directors is meeting Wednesday at 1 p.m. at Mary Emery's home. The auxiliary will meet July 7 at the Bethel Savings Bank in West Paris at 7 p.m. to plan July's fund-raising activities.

The new building committee has specifications available for anyone wanting to do foundation work, plumbing or heating work on the new ambulance barn. For a copy of these specs, contact Warren Emery at Emery Building Supplies in West Paris. The Region 11 students will build the majority of the building, excluding plumbing and heating. The foundation work must be completed this summer for the vocational students to start construction in the fall. Carol Penley, 674-2874, is looking for new in-service dispatchers. The job involves contacting Tri-Town members to get a back-up crew for the second ambulance or a first responder for the initial call. Anyone who is near a telephone for either a 12-hour day shift or a 12-hour night shift (from 6 to 6) and would like more information may call Carol.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a description of a famous valley in California—

"The high grey-flannel fog closed off the Salinas valley from the sky and from all the rest of the world. On every side it sat like a lid on the mountains and made of the great valley a closed pot. On the broad, level land floor the gang plows the deep and left the black earth shining like metal where the shares had cut. On the foothill ranches across the Salinas River, the yellow stubble fields seemed to be bathed in cold sunshine, but there was no sunshine in the valley row. The thick yellow scrub along the river flowed with sharp and positive yellow leaves."

—John Steinbeck

Mansfield Packard has hooked up the switchboard and phones in the museum so they are operable.

MUNDT-ALLEN POST PICNIC

Mundt-Allen Post #81, American Legion, will hold their annual picnic at Songo Pond, Sunday, June 29, at 11 a.m. weather permitting. Bring a salad or dessert and a beach chair. Meat will be provided.

Mrs. David Thompson returned home Monday after spending a few days in Boston attending meetings sponsored by the Christian Science Church. While there she also attended public Bible exhibits and visited with friends, including Mrs. Helen Bacon, formerly of Bryant Pond.

Handbell choir to concertize June 30 at Congregational Church

The Carillons, a handbell choir from Pluckemin, N.J., will present a concert at West Parish Congregational Church, Bethel, on Monday evening, June 30, at 7:30.

The Carillons Handbell Choir includes 12 members of high school age who have been ringing bells from four to eight years. The group has toured in Germany and Holland, as well as performing frequently in the eastern United States and Canada. They will be coming to Bethel from a concert appearance at Lake Placid, N.Y., and will be going from Bethel to the National Handbell Festival at Orono.

The church feels privileged to have this group of experienced handbell ringers performing in Bethel. The concert is open to the public at no charge.

There are a lot of different ideas about the best way to build a home satellite system. You owe it to yourself to shop around and see what is available. Examine the equipment closely and ask questions about anything that you don't understand. Keep in mind that the cheapest you'll know the true cost of any system is after you've seen the end of its service life. Try to separate the facts from the promises and buy from a reputable manufacturer. Study the choices, because only after you know something about the various solutions will you be able to make an intelligent choice between them.

The Woodstock High School Alumni banquet was held on June 14 at Telstar High School, with a very good attendance. Scholarships were awarded to Michelle Cummings, Crystal Haskell, Lisa Jordan, Lisa Thurlow and Penny York. Mansfield Packard was the oldest member attending. He was in the class of 1920. One member from the class of 1912, Alan Hathaway, and one from the class of 1913, Nancy Lord, are both living but were unable to attend. It was voted to have the banquet at the same place next year. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Thompson, principal, teacher and coach at Woodstock High School from 1947 to 1952 attended. Mr. Thompson spoke and told of the state championships won at Woodstock in baseball and basketball and how at the smaller school there was a feeling of fellowship as well as friendship and cooperation with the townspeople. Officers were nominated as follows: president, Alice Hoyt; vice president, Mina Morgan; secretary, Sheryl Wilbur; treasurer, Yerna Swan.

Beatrice Farnum, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt and Bob, Jim Hoyt, Mr. and Mrs. David Crockett and Ray joined Mr. and Mrs. John Chase, Crystal and Andy, Bobby Stevens, Keith, Jenny and Danny, Mr. and Mrs. John Greenleaf at the camp of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chase, South Pond, Sunday for a cookout.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ring, Freeport and Mrs. Kaye Glines and Jonathan, Danbury, N.H., were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Ring.

Franklin Grange met on Monday evening for C.W.A. night. The following filled the chairs: Master, Myrtle Bisbee, Oxford; Overseer, Gail Butterfield, Harrison; Lecturer, Alice Hoyt; Steward, Mildred O'Brien, West Paris; Assistant Steward, Lorretta Hall, Mystic Valley; L.A. Steward, Ruby Whitney, Naples; Chaplain, Bertha Benoit; Treasurer, Lettie Brooks; Secretary, Roberta Ramey, Mt. Sugarloaf; Gatekeeper, Jackie Stevens, West Paris; Ceres, Dot Canwell, Oxford; Pomona, Kitty Davis, Oxford; Flora, Rena Kujala, West Paris; C.W.A., Mary Crockett, Mystic Valley; Kaye Billings and Edith Hathaway; Planist, Margarette Marcotte, West Paris. Ruby Whitney, state member of the C.W.A., Louis Bisbee, Deputy, and Myrtle Bisbee, Jr. Deputy, were given a hearty welcome. There were 41 members and one guest present.

Ada Balentine and Wilma Day were reported on. The Grange will hold a food sale and flea market on Saturday, July 19, with a lunch at noon. Anyone wanting a table may call Alice Hoyt, 665-2460, or any member. Ruby Whitney and Louis Bisbee spoke to the group. The program was as follows: C.W.A. song by all; piano solos by Margarette Marcotte; reading by Alice Hoyt; Dot Canwell whistled; reading by Paul Billings; songs by Bertha Benoit; mystery march; readings by Russell Yates; Chinese auction; songs by Harry Boyer; reading by Peggy Blake; closing thought by Alice Hoyt and closing song. Refreshments were served.

Steer This Way

By Win Carrick

Fuel injection offers increased performance, improved driveability and better fuel economy than conventional carburetor system.

Rule of thumb: if you're hitched to a trailer and have to back up, steer in the direction OPPOSITE the way you want to go.

Clutch noise may be caused by faulty bearings, binding linkage, or worn springs. Consider also misalignment of transmission and engine.

Are your tires properly inflated? Low tires add rolling resistance and waste fuel. Extra important when air conditioning is adding to the load your engine must bear.

How does your car LOOK? Scratches, chips and rust not only look bad, they let corrosion eat into the car—and its value.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

This afternoon the sun shone very brightly and there was a gay high wind. The bees were singing a song of summer as they visited my azalea and rhododendron bushes. The butterflies rested upon them also, working their wings. I wandered by and stooped down to pick a fallen petal, crushed it between my fingers or the hollow of my hand. The essence of a thousand scents came unbearable and sweet, all from a curled and crumpled petal.

How lovely are these bright June days with wild flowers blooming beside the road and through the fields. It's a time to enjoy a green world of magic wonders.

I miss my long walks to the fields and woods but work in my gardens, now my lawns, and look about me.

From the lawns I can see scenes that are dear to me. There are places deep in clover, mountains wearing violet shawls, traces of wild blossoms, a little brook rushing to meet the pond.

Sounds, too, keep me company. The pond frogs' husky serenade, soft winds whispering through the pines, the "who" from an owl across the water and the voices of the thrushes.

There's the fresh, clean scent of new mown hay, the smell of earth after showers.

These are the scenes, sounds and fragrances which nature freely provides, when I'm confined to my lawn or garden with this beautiful countryside.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis had several callers on the weekend: Colista Cogswell and daughter, Cindy, Freeport; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curtis, Farmington; Walter Curtis Jr. and Tricia of Oxford; Ray Curtis and Gloria.

Mrs. Joy Siegel and son left for home after a two week visit with her grandmother, Doris Hayes. Before going to Kentucky she visited her sister, Diane Curtis in New Hampshire.

Hanover

By DONNA WORCESTER

Lisa Pearce and Dale Bellman, both of Livermore Falls, were married in Hanover on June 13, 1986, in a marriage ceremony by Notary Public Clem Worcester. Witnesses were Donna Worcester and Frank Worcester.

Members of Oxford Bear Lodge, Knights of Pythias were saddened by the June 17, 1986, death of their Brother, Walter Glover of Hollis, Mr. Glover, who was 93, had been a member of Oxford Bear Lodge for 72 years. Donations in memory of Mr. Glover may be sent to Oxford Bear Lodge, Box 44, Hanover, Maine 04227. Memorial donations are placed in the Youth Welfare Account which was established in 1974 to benefit area youth programs and individuals participating in special projects.

Jerry Martin, Rumford Point, has been released from the hospital and is recuperating at his parents' home.

The 1985-86 school year has ended and the young folks are enjoying summer-time activities. Congratulations are extended to the area high school and college graduates.

The State Department of Transportation has posted the first bridge on the Howard Pond Road for a gross weight of 10 tons. The bridge is located nearly a mile from the intersection of the Howard Pond Road and Route 2.

The Gardiner Roberts Memorial Library will be open all summer from 10 a.m. to 12 noon on Wednesdays starting July 2.

Mrs. Florence Isley, who lives with her son Nathan and daughter-in-law, Roberta, observed her 99th birthday June 15. She drives the tractor all over the farm and cleans out the barn. Old age doesn't bother her at all.

Joe Vatcher went to Danvers, Mass., to visit his mother, Mrs. Fannie Vatcher, June 17. Eveline stayed home as it was the oxygen man's day; also the hearing aid man came.

Robert Anderson, Burlington, Mass., and Michael Fucalile, Woburn, Mass., visited with the Vachers Wednesday. Also Harry Child, respiratory therapist, from Norway hospital came.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Spencer and three children, Tyngsboro, Mass., are moving to the Reidy trailer on the Trask Road. The mister will work in Massachusetts at his present job until August and come here for the weekends. Each weekend he will move some of their belongings here.

Strawberries and strawberries galore. Joe Vatcher and his helpers picked the strawberries for the shortcakes for the Community Club supper on July 26 and put them in the freezer. They dodged a few rain drops on Friday, but they survived.

Reprint of Lapham's 'History of Bethel' to again be available

Dr. Stanley R. Howe, Director of the Bethel Historical Society, announces this week that the second impression of the 1981 reprint of William B. Lapham's "History of Bethel, 1768-1890" is expected to become available in the next few weeks as part of the society's continuing publications program. A joint project of the society and New England History Press of Somersworth, N.H., the book is one of the most sought after by researchers, genealogists, and others interested in this western Maine town founded in 1774 and incorporated in 1796.

The original volume of this history was published in 1891 and in 1981 the society collaborated with the New England History Press to bring this long out-of-print book back into circulation. Featuring a 14 page introductory essay "Historical Perspectives on Bethel Since Lapham" by Dr. Howe and new subject and name indexes compiled by Dr. Howe and Agnes Haines, respectively, the book was soon sold out. The second impression contains all that was included in the 1981 edition but does add a page of omissions and corrections to the name index.

Containing over 700 pages with history as well as a genealogy, the book is being printed on acid-free, high quality paper and will feature they same dust jacket as the 1981 edition, a copy of the bird's eye view of Bethel Hill that was first published in 1878. Inquiries should be directed to the society at 824-2908 or P.O. Box 12, Bethel, Maine

Lester W. Cole of Greenwood died Saturday evening, June 21, 1986, at the Market Square Health Care Facility in South Paris where he had been a patient since September of 1981.

He was born at Greenwood Nov. 2, 1898, the son of Daniel R. and Bertha A. Swan Cole. He attended Greenwood schools. He married Carrie (Netta) Dunham June 8, 1921. She died Feb. 18, 1982.

He was a farmer. He also served as selectman for the town of Greenwood for many years. He was sexton of the Hicks Cemetery for many years. He was in charge of the local road maintenance for over 40 years, first as road commissioner for Greenwood and later with the state road patrol.

He was an avid hunter and a former member of the Franklin Grange #124 and the Fraternal Lodge K. of P., both of Bryant Pond.

He is survived by four sons, Irving, Daniel and Burton, all of Greenwood, and Elwin of West Peru; two daughters, Miss Charlotte Cole of Greenwood, and Mrs. Lillian Noyes of Wilton; 21 grandchildren and eight grandchildren; one brother, Carlton Cole of Greenwood; three sisters, Mrs. Tena Morgan and Miss Muriel Cole of Greenwood, and Mrs. Carrie Robinson of Norway. A son, Herschel, passed away in 1976.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the Andrews Funeral Home in South Woodstock, with Joseph Perham officiating. Interment was at the Hicks Cemetery in Greenwood.

THOMAS H. GREEN

Thomas H. Green died Friday, June 20, 1986, as a result of an automobile accident near his home on Route 26 in South Paris.

He was born at Woodstock, June 9, 1902, the son of Thomas and Jane Gill Green. He attended local schools. He married Rose Hack in 1928 and she passed away on July 5, 1985. He was the owner and operator of Snow Falls Cabins for more than 30 years.

He is survived by two nephews, Gordon Smith of Norway and Norman Smith of Greenwood, and two nieces, Gloria Herick of Norway and Jeanie Richard of Mexico.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at the Andrews Funeral Home, South Woodstock, with Rev. George Pruitt Jr. officiating. Interment was at the Riverside Annex Cemetery, South Paris.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the society's annual picnic will be held on Thursday, July 3, at 6:30 p.m. on the lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Following the picnic there will be a short business meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. followed by the program which will feature Eric Wight who will speak on the subject "Indians and Archaeology." Anyone interested in attending this meeting is cordially invited to do so. Please bring a picnic lunch. Beverages will be provided by the society.

The society has received a copy of William B. Lapham's History of Norway, Maine, recently reprinted by New England History Press of Somersworth, N.H. An index of the 1886 edition was compiled by society life member Agnes Haines and is included in the 1986 edition. For furnishing the index, the society received a complimentary copy which is now available in the Eva Bean Research Room. Four more books have been acquired by the society for use in its archives by researchers. These are Ruth Adams, A History of Wilton 1785-1970; Berlin, N.H. 1829-1919 Centennial; Legends and Historical Events of Indians in New Hampshire; Heads of Families: First Census of the United States, 1790, State of New Hampshire.

The annual orientations for guides for the Dr. Moses Mason House Museum will be held on Monday, June 30, at 2 p.m. Hours for the museum will be the same as in previous years, Tuesday through Sunday, 1-4 p.m. for the months of July and August. Volunteers are needed to staff the museum during the summer season. If anyone would like more information, please call the head of the museum committee, Judy Haskell, at 824-2724, or the society office at 824-2908.

Locke Mills residence
destroyed by fire
Tuesday afternoon

The residence of Albert Henley on Howe Hill, Locke Mills, was destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin Tuesday afternoon. No injuries were reported.

According to Fire Chief Hugh Swan, the Greenwood Fire Department responded to the 4:21 p.m. alarm with four trucks and a dozen men. When they arrived at the scene the one and half story structure was already engulfed in flames.

Chief Swan said the fire started in a woodshed, spreading rapidly to the kitchen of the home and beyond. Metal siding held much of the heat inside the structure, with smoke pouring out windows and around eaves. All of the family's belongings were lost.

Firemen obtained water from a pond at Mt. Abram Ski Area, Chief Swan said, and brought the fire under control in about an hour. Firemen remained at the scene about four hours, and Swan returned late Tuesday night to check for flare-ups.

Reportedly there will be no investigation by the state fire marshal's office to determine the cause. It is not known if there was any insurance coverage.

Among the 412 graduates to receive diplomas from Northfield Mount Hermon School at their 103rd commencement held June 8, in Northfield, Mass., was Michael Newsom, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cole of Bethel. Michael, a member of the Cum Laude Society, was the recipient of the Departmental Prize in Mathematics and a commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Program. He will enter Brown University in September.

Boise negotiations
nearing June 30 deadline

Negotiations between Boise Cascade management and the International Papermakers union continued this week, with input from federal mediator John LaPoint. Both sides reported, however, that they were still far from an agreement.

Mediator LaPoint—a commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who holds office in the federal building in Portland—sounded quite alarmed at the situation he found when he arrived in Rumford Monday. "This is an unusually serious situation," he told The Citizen.

He noted that the economic package being offered by the company is attempting to achieve savings at numerous points of management-labor relations. "The objectives laid down by the company are extremely ambitious," he said.

The current three-year contract runs out June 30. Both sides have expressed a willingness to continue negotiating past that deadline, but neither side has formally suggested doing so.

If the two sides do not negotiate a contract by then, and if they have not agreed to disregard the deadline, mediator LaPoint says there is only one likely next step. "There would be an A-number-one, first-class strike."

He continued, "What the odds are to achieve a contract I really don't know."

According to sources, union members have begun making "strike" signs (although union officials deny this), and management has already given new assignments to office and salary personnel in case a strike develops. The sources say the non-striking employees will be put on shifts of 10 days on and five days off. During the "on" days, the non-striking employees will be working 12-hour days, according to the contingency schedule.

This would be a similar schedule to the one used during the last strike, a half-dozen years ago.

Business people in Rumford report a marked drop-off in sales as mill families keep tight rein on their funds to see whether or not a strike will be called.

Federal mediator LaPoint, who was invited last week by both sides to join the talks, said his game plan is to talk with each side separately. One of the first things he wants to deal with, he said, is to try to get an extension to the June 30 deadline on the contract.

Although he and one other commissioner are responsible for the entire northern New England area, he is going to devote himself to the Boise situation for the time being. "I am camped here for the duration," he said. "I'm going to be at this continuously until it's settled or goes to a strike situation."

He was quite clear about his objective. "There's one single objective, and that's to achieve a contract."

Blood drive July 9

The American Red Cross will be in Bethel on Wednesday, July 9, at the West Parish Congregational Church from 1 to 6 p.m.

Your single donation can help at least two and usually three or more of these patients. There are many regular donors who are a tremendous credit to the community but more help is needed! If you are in good health, 18 years old or over (17 with written parental permission), weigh at least 110 pounds, you may be able to give blood. The whole process takes only one hour. Babysitting will be available. Appointments are helpful but not necessary. You can walk in and donate at your convenience that day.

If you are not called and would like to donate blood or volunteer some of your time to help with the registration, serve refreshments, take blood pressures, supervise children, or if you have any questions, please call Pat Donovan at 824-2113.

Andover mill rate up

Andover selectmen announced last night (Tuesday) that this year's mill rate would be 15.5 mills—that is, $15.50 tax per $1,000 of assessed property valuation. The rate is up two mills over the past year's rate.

Total appropriations for the various Andover budgets total nearly $600,000. These are broken down as follows: $139,281 for municipal budget, $423,300 for school budget, $30,025 for the county budget, and $7,228 for overlay. Helping on the revenue side is state revenue of $18,000 and other revenue of $60,051.

LOCAL ARTS GROUP
TO SEEK INCORPORATION
& NON-PROFIT STATUS

David Caddigan from the Maine Arts Council met last Wednesday with a group of local residents who are interested in bringing artists of all types to the Bethel schools and community. David explained the process a group needs to go through in order to incorporate as a non-profit organization. Cheri Thurston, Marguerite Graham, Carol Fisk, Vicki Rackliffe, Gemma and Dennis Dreher, Bernie Wideman, Bill and Ki Clough, Bonnie Pooley, and Lucia Owen agreed to pursue non-profit status in order to raise funds to match the various grants that are available to fund visiting artists programs in Maine. The group felt that there are many community members that would support such an organization once the initial ground work is done. The goal at this point will be to bring guest artists into the schools with the idea of expanding into a concert series for the community.

Anyone who is interested is encouraged to attend a meeting at the Sudbury Inn on July 21. By then the group will have researched non-profit status and will have a plan to present to the community at large.

Boise workers strike Rumford mill

Pickets were scheduled to be set up at all 10 employee gates of the Boise Cascade mill in Rumford at 12:01 this morning (Tuesday). Members of the United Paperworkers Local #900 voted overwhelmingly Sunday to strike after three months of negotiations failed to produce a new contract. The old three-year contract was only good through June 30.

Federal mediator John LaPoint had attempted to prolong the talks for another 10 days, and Boise negotiators had indicated their willingness to have an extension. However, the union members, at two separate meetings (in order to accommodate the shift workers) Sunday at Muskie Auditorium rejected the idea of extending the talks and voted 94 percent (according to a union spokesman) in favor of a strike.

A source at the meeting said the vote was approximately 850-50, in favor of the strike. The union would not release the vote total nor say how many people showed up for the two meetings. The union represents about 1,100 hourly workers at the mill.

Union president Don Barker said discussion on the strike vote was lively, lasting an hour-and-a-half at the morning meeting and one hour at the afternoon session.

Asked how long he thought the strike might last, Mr. Barker said, "As long as it takes."

The last time the union walked out was in 1980. At that time the strike lasted six weeks.

Negotiations between the union and management began in April, with management presenting a package deal that took back many of the existing fringe benefits—such as lengthy vacations, liberal medical and dental plans and confining work rules. Union President Barker said the union negotiators still had 44 points in the package that they couldn't live with when negotiations broke off last Saturday.

The strike seems certain to cause hardship and hard feelings for workers, townspeople and the mill management. While management has contingency plans for using salary personnel on 12-hour shifts and bringing in people from other mills, some suppliers are said to be loath about crossing picket lines. Yesterday, sources said one shipping company and one fuel oil supplier said they would not send their trucks across the picket lines.

TOWNHOUSE CONDOMINIUMS HAVE BEGUN TO GO UP at Mt. Abram Ski Slopes, in Locke Mills. The ski area expects to build 32 condo units this year and another 32 next year. The development, called Birch Road Country Homes, will have the units clustered in 16-unit and 8-unit buildings at the foot of the ski slopes.

Some local contractors also said that although they could use an unpicketed gate reserved for contractors, they would not do work in the mill while the strike was in effect. "You'd be stepping on too many toes," one contractor said.

Company spokesman John Shorb said he has not heard of any suppliers planning to stay away because of the strike, and he said the plant would continue to operate with management and other salaried personnel. He said people from other Boise plants are already on their way. He declined to specify which plants. "We expect to meet customer orders," he said.

Townspeople said economic prospects for the strikers seemed not too bad, with plenty of summer work available. Additionally, the international union will be paying the striking workers $55 a week, according to union president Barker.

Newry tax rate holds steady at $11.10 per $1,000

The Newry assessors met last Friday and set the tax rate at $11.10 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation. This is the same rate as last year.

Although the amount of money to be raised by the town increased by $58,000 over last year, collections will be far ahead of last year due to the higher-than-expected increase in property valuation. Valuation increased 35 percent over the year, to $22,000,000.

The other factor that made it possible to hold the tax rate even, the assessors said, was the $400,000 reduction in the school assessment voted by district voters.

The tax commitment breaks down as follows: town appropriations, $112,248; schools, $147,019; county tax, $10,414; overlay, $10,799; for a total of $280,482. With other revenues of $34,083, that leaves $246,393 to be raised by taxation.

The materials will be forwarded to Linda Sanborn of Integrated Municipal Services, in Farmington, for preparation of the tax bills for mailing.

A 2 percent discount will be allowed on all tax bills paid within 30 days. Interest, at the rate of 1 percent a month or part thereof, will be charged beginning Oct. 1 on taxes not paid by that date.

Mt. Abram starts construction of 32 townhouse condo units

Mt. Abram Ski Slopes, in Locke Mills, last week broke ground for its long-awaited condominium. Foundations are being poured for 32 townhouse units in the first half of the project, to be completed in November. The second half of the project—another 32 units—will be done next year.

Mt. Abram spokeswoman Jean Anton said, "I don't think we're going to have any problem selling them." She reported that some callers are inquiring about purchasing two and three units.

The condos, called "Birch Road Country Homes," are located at the foot of the mountain and are designed as one-bedroom and two-bedroom units. There are 16 units in one building, while two other buildings house eight units apiece.

Prices for the condos range from $60,000 for a one-bedroom to $78,000 for a top-of-the-line two-bedroom.

The project manager for the construction is L&L Builders, of Lewiston. Merrymount Architects, of Brunswick, did the plans.

The condo construction is just one aspect of the off-season activity taking place at Mt. Abram. Owner Don Cross is also increasing the snowmaking capacity. Whereas snowmaking covered 40 percent of the trails during its first season of use—last year—snowmaking is being increased to cover 60 percent of the slopes for this coming season.

The snowmaking capability paid dividends, as seen by the increased number of skiers at the mountain. A total of 45,700 skiers purchased lift tickets last season, Ms. Anton noted—an all-time record—as compared to 37,000 the year before, when there was no snowmaking.

The increased snow allowed the mountain to stay open 108 days this past season, compared to 91 days the year before. The all-time record for days of skiing at Mt. Abram was set years ago, at 115, during a particularly snowy winter.

Also planned for the coming season is the purchase of another snow grooming vehicle and the setting up of a new administrative office and day care area.

For the 1988 season, Mt. Abram expects to install a new lift. Ms. Anton said this might even be done prior to the '87 season.

The ski slope continues to be a steady source of employment in the area, providing about 65 jobs on a seasonal basis.

Esther says it's time for a summer vacation. So, Dr. Shaw's office on Main Street will be closed June 28 - July 13.

Ship of State out of control

Here's a simple quiz for those interested in logic and accuracy in language:

Q: What's it called when one country arms and trains nationals of a country in the Mideast who then go out and kidnap American, French and British diplomats?

A: Syrian-sponsored terrorism.

Q: What's it called when one country arms and trains nationals of a country in Central America who then go out and kidnap German diplomats?

A: Ronald Reagan's foreign policy.

A note from the publisher

Sociologists and political scientists have been telling us for the past few years that our society is becoming more conservative. And judging from evidence in the 1986 Telstar yearbook—the "Zodiac"—these experts are probably right (that is, correct).

In looking at the goals the graduating seniors define for themselves, it is immediately apparent that the goals of the girls center much more around home and family while the goals of the boys center more around careers.

About half the girls say they are looking forward to marriage, setting up a home, and raising children. Only a couple of the boys list such goals. Most of the boys talk about going out into the world and getting an education or getting a job or looking forward to the day when they can start their own businesses.

Nevertheless, it is clear that the graduating class—while not as sexually equal as some classes a decade ago—is still a far cry from the teenagers of the '60s.

In those days a young woman could plan to work until she married and became pregnant. Then it was the life of a mother and homemaker until the kids were grown.

With the advancement of the service sector of the economy, and the decline of the farming and manufacturing sectors, more jobs for women became available, and women left the home for the workplace in increasing numbers.

Looking at the goals of this year's Telstar graduating girls, it seems there is a renewed concern for home life, with work being looked at mostly as a temporary expedient rather than as a career.

The other impression one gets from looking at the yearbook is that the staff did an excellent job in putting it together. Under the supervision of Marilyn Ackley, editors Kim Monzo and Lisa Jordan and staff have produced a volume that any school would be proud of.

The yearbook spotlights Social Studies Teacher Charlie Raymond as teacher-of-the-year.

It also gives special recognition to foreign exchange students Hege Dammrud, of Norway, and Gerald Nesselmann, of Austria, for bringing fresh enthusiasm and perspective to the school.

If you haven't yet seen the yearbook, I recommend you find a copy. It's a super job.

GOULD ACADEMY AT FESTIVAL BY THE LAKE

Alumni, parents and friends of Gould Academy have been invited to participate in a sequentiennial gathering when the Portland Symphony and Schooner Fare entertain at "Festival By the Lake" in Auburn. The concert will take place on the shores of Lake Auburn on Saturday, July 31, at 5 p.m. The alumni office has arranged for a chartered bus to transport alumni, parents and friends from Bethel, Norway and Mechanic Falls to the concert. A delicious box supper will also be provided.

Schooner Fare's unique blend of folk and contemporary music coupled with the Portland Symphony, ensures everyone a most enjoyable evening's entertainment. The 1812 Overture complete with cannons highlights this year's concert.

Space is limited for this Gould gathering and anyone interested is urged to send their reservation to: Gould Academy "Festival By the Lake," P.O. Box 860, Bethel, Maine 04217 or call Fran Bernier in the Alumni/Development Office: (207) 824-2161 Ext. 129 for details. The ticket price is $20 which includes the round trip bus ride, box supper and concert ticket.

The Lady of the Harbor

She has stood alone in the harbor for nearly 100 years proudly holding the torch of freedom and warmly welcoming millions of arriving immigrants. She has provided so many with the strength and courage needed to make in the land of opportunity, and her serene gaze reminds us that freedom calls for public spiritedness and responsible citizenship as well as pursuing one's own dream. Her sense of purpose moves the spirit and stirs the pride of all Americans, for she stands as our national symbol of hope of hope and liberty.

America has not forgotten her first lady of freedom. The 100th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty will take place this July 4th weekend with a rededication ceremony that will draw several million Americans to New York City for the world's greatest celebration of freedom and democracy.

It will be a party complete with the most spectacular fireworks ever seen, the finest marching bands in the country, and the grandest folk festival in our nation's history. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger will swear in 2,000 new citizens of the United States on Ellis Island, and by television satellite, 38,000 more across the country. President Reagan will also be on hand to present the Medal of Liberty to 12 naturalized citizens who have made outstanding contributions to our country. In the midst of all the revelry and grandeur, Miss Liberty will be center stage in full glory with the re-lighting of the torch of freedom.

Her entrance will be noteworthy. For the past year, the Statue of Liberty has undergone an extensive restoration, which includes removing six layers of paint, replacing the old torch with a new copper torch, and completely renovating the entire inner structure of the statue. The seven spikes of her crown and have been refurbished and the frame supporting her right shoulder has been reinforced.

When we see the revitalized statue, we will be reminded of our fortune as a free people. Her presence will never allow us to forget that beneath our flag, our people are free. Here, there are no walls to keep us from leaving, no iron curtain around our borders, no shroud to hide the sight of oppression, and no secret police to whisk us off in the night without warning or without a fair and public hearing. Here, there is no monarch, no tyranny and no ruling aristocracy. Here we believe in the ideals of liberty and the equality of all citizens.

Yet, our freedom has not been a gift without sacrifice nor is its continuation a guarantee. We must never forget the individual commitment and great courage that our founding fathers displayed over 200 hundred years ago, and we must always remember that our freedom today is dependent upon an appreciation of its origins and a dedication to its protection.

I am proud that the appreciation of our freedom has been passed along to the younger generation. Toby Farrington, a fifth grade student of Andover Elementary School in Oxford County, was recently selected to represent the citizens of Maine at the Statue of Liberty dedication ceremony this summer. Toby participated in a national essay contest, which was dedicated to teacher astronaut Christa McAuliffe, designed to give children an opportunity to reflect upon America's heritage and the rights and obligations of a free people, and as a result of this outstanding effort, Toby will be among the first people to visit the Statue of Liberty this July 4th weekend.

Toby's thoughtful essay reminds us all of the true meaning of freedom.

Our Statue: Teacher of Liberty
"When people from France first saw the statue, instead of seeing a statue, they actually saw freedom. Even though I have never seen the statue, I know what freedom is. Freedom is being able to go into space, like Christa McAuliffe did. She followed her dream like many people coming to this country have, and like some, died for her freedom."

WITH WHITEWASHED TOENAILS, the elephants of the Olde Tyme American Circus paraded down Main Street, Bethel, along with other circus performers and loads of kids dressed up as clowns, prior to the opening performance of the circus Sunday. There were two packed performances, on Sunday and Monday, under the big top, set up at Telstar Regional High School. The Texas-based circus was brought to town by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The school year is over and the kids are busy planning for summer fun. I haven't been able to so quickly forget the good times I had at Woodstock Elementary School this past year. I was fortunate enough to be able to participate in a lot of the 6th-grade class activities this year and got to know the teachers and staff of WES quite well. From my standpoint there are no better people around. Each teacher really cared how her students were doing academically as well as extra-curricularly. The teachers participation in all the sports programs, special arts and fun activities was outstanding.

The community is really going to miss Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Cyr. I'm sure their replacements will be just as dedicated and helpful, but these two teachers will reserve a special place in my heart.

If everyone had a chance to work and really get to know the teachers of WES, I'm sure they'd know some of the real joy I feel from just a little effort on my part. A special thanks to Mr. Murphy, who always had a friendly word and was never without a winning smile. He always made my visits to WES a pleasure.

Thanks again to you all for the dedication and caring you have shown the students of WES.

To the Editor:

Let's wish a Happy Birthday to the Lady Liberty. She stands tall, free, and proud with new spikes on her crown and 24 karat gold leaf on the flames of her torch.

Although the exact date of her original unveiling was Oct. 28, 1886, it was decided that in 1986 the birthday of the United States, July 4th, would be the most appropriate to celebrate the big One Hundred Year observance.

The young French sculptor, Frederic Auguste Bartholdi (1834-1904), creator of the statue would be happy to see her in her splendor today.

Thanks to the central figure in raising funds for the Statue of Liberty's restoration, Lee Iacocca, himself the son of immigrant parents, it is a sterling example of a dream come true.

Credit should also go to Emma Lazarus who wrote the famous poem that

To the Editor:

Clio, the muse of history, wrote the German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer "is as permeated with lies as a street-whore with syphilis." False historical beliefs are so common in many societies that some have argued that if they did not exist steps would have to be taken to create them. Many of us, for example were brought up with the famous myth of George Washington and the cherry tree. Ironically, the man who invented this lie (Parson Weems) did so to inspire young people to tell the truth. We have Longfellow's Paul Revere riding on the wrong side of the river to a town he failed to reach. In the twentieth century there is Margaret Mitchell's novel of the Civil War and Reconstruction ("Gone With The Wind") which does everything but deafen the reader with a rebel yell.

These fabrications and distortions of history (and countless others) may seem harmless and perhaps they are. Others have led some of our leaders and citizens alike to activities that harmed the nation and caused other forms of mischief. On the latter score one has only to cite such myths as Americans are a chosen people, the United States is omnipotent, always right and has won all its wars to see what what some of the implications are. Yet many Americans cling to these beliefs despite overwhelming evidence to the contrary.

To those of us dedicated to historical truth no matter how unsettling it can often be, myths must be understood as such and relegated to the waste heap of history no matter how great their appeal. Two on the local level (with admittedly no foreseeable adverse implications) continue to possess popular appeal and yet have no basis in fact. One is that Bethel was once part of Canada. This is simply not the case. As I have repeatedly emphasized on many occasions, the name Sudbury (no Canada here please) Canada, Bethel's early name, came from the fact that soldiers from Sudbury, Massachusetts were granted land in the District of Maine to pay for services rendered during the abortive campaign to conquer Canada in 1690—therefore the name Sudbury (to designate the town in Massachusetts from which the soldiers came) and Canada (to indicate the campaign in which they fought). There were in fact several Canada townships in Maine and New Hampshire and none of them were part of Canada.

The other myth that is forever being perpetuated is that Molly Ockett was an Indian princess. This again is simply not true. Indians (in this area at least) had no concept of royalty. Even though she was apparently the daughter of a chief, she was not a princess. Readers may recall that while settlers almost from the earliest days persisted in giving Indians royal designations. Perhaps the best example was in the 1670s with King Philip whose actual Indian name was Metacomb. But who remembers that? Our legacy is then one of the worst examples of white-Indian conflict, King Philip's War.

As I have indicated, myths can be both harmless and harmful. We have so much history that is interesting, instructive, and best of all, true. Why then do we continue to perpetuate myths that have no basis in fact and may be detrimental to an understanding of our past?

Retirement ceremonies held for two at Gilbert

A retirement party was recently held at Gilbert Mfg., Corp., in Locke Mills, for two senior employees: Kay Roberts and Roy Day.

Mrs. Roberts joined the mill in 1965, when it was owned by Ekco Housewares and known as Ekco Wood Products. During her long tenure with the company, she performed a variety of important and critical jobs in the manufacturing area. She was known as a conscientious worker and was given a solid gold necklace as a token of appreciation for her 22 years of loyal service to the company. A sum of money was also provided by fellow employees, which is customary at the mill.

Roy Day joined the mill in 1939, when it was owned by the Tebbets family and known as Tebbets Spool Company. Mr. Day is known as a master craftsman at the mill. During his years there he provided the cabinet work, pipe fitting, plumbing, sheet metal work, and jig and fixture work. He held the prestigious position of "Millwright First Class, Jig and Fixture Maker" since 1966. A Maine history buff, Mr. Day was given several books on local history as a token of appreciation for his 47 years of loyal service to the company. As is customary, a sum of money provided by the employees, was also given to the retiree.

Company president Duane Gilbert said the two would be sorely missed and he wished them well in retirement.

New ATV laws in effect

Owners and operators of all-terrain vehicles are advised by Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Glenn H. Manuel to become thoroughly acquainted with Maine's new ATV laws, some of which became effective July 1.

Commissioner Manuel said the law changes came as the result of a study requested by the Legislature's Fish and Wildlife Committee, stemming from many complaints and problems encountered with misuse of ATVs.

Under the new law, all persons under 18 will now be required to wear helmets while operating an ATV. Owners, as well as operators, of ATVs will assume responsibility for abusive practices. The owner of an ATV will be guilty of a civil infraction if his ATV is operated in violation of law by any other person. In addition, the parent or guardian of a minor operating an ATV in violation of the laws will also be guilty of the offense.

A major change in the law also provides for additional protection to landowners. Landowners are not liable for injury to ATV operators or damage to the ATV unless they knowingly and negligently bring about the injury or damage. As in the past, it is unlawful to operate an ATV on cropland or pastureland without permission of the landowner.

DOT spraying roadsides of state roads in county

The Maine Department of Transportation will be spraying roadsides in Oxford County during the month of July. The annual chemical spraying reduces fast-growing brush that can hinder motorists' vision at intersections, railroad crossings, school bus stops, curves and driveways on state-maintained roads.

If you do not want your roadside sprayed, you can obtain no-spray information and forms from the DOT office in Dixfield, at P.O. Box X, Dixfield, Me. 04224, or call them at 562-4229.

What good is a blood donor

A blood donor is good for:

- A person with leukemia;
- People being operated on;
- New mothers needing a transfusion;
- Hemophiliacs so they can be as healthy as possible;
- Automobile accident victims;
- Cancer patients;
- People who are badly burned;
- Anyone with bleeding ulcers;
- People in the wrong place at the wrong time;
- Someone undergoing dialysis while awaiting a kidney transplant;
- People of all ages who are in a lot worse shape than most people you know.

The Bethel Blood Drive will be held Wednesday, July 9, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church. Please help those who are unfortunate enough to fall into one of the above categories. There is absolutely no danger of infected needles related to donating blood. All equipment such as needles, syringes, etc., are sterilized, used once and discarded. Please don't let misinformation prevent you from performing this very important community service. Call and make an appointment to give blood. Call Pat Donovan at 824-2113.

Area chamber holds annual meeting

The happy combination of a delicious dinner, a brief but important election of '86-87 officers and directors, several well-deserved service awards, an entertaining speaker, and an interlude of tie-tapping country music was thoroughly enjoyed by the more than 100 persons who attended the May 30 Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet at the Bethel Inn.

Bill Wiley welcomed the guests and rendered the invocation. Retiring President Rick Whitney conducted the business meeting which resulted in the election of the nominating committee's recommended slate of officers and directors for a one year term.

Executive Director Robin Zinchuk then surprised Rick Whitney and former directors Wendy Gray and George Stevens with appropriate awards. Ms. Zinchuk continued with an interesting summary of '85-'86 chamber accomplishments, the most notable of which were the establishment of a visible business location, the employment of a part-time executive director, negotiation for an improved health plan, completion of several co-operative advertising projects, the handling of more than 500 inquiries, a four day stint at the prestigious Springfield Exposition (the Big E) for the state of Maine, an appearance at the Boston Ski Show, Christmas tree lighting festivities and the upcoming circus performances set for June 29 and 30.

Barbara D. Brown along with George Stevens and Margaret Joy Tibbets presented the traditional community service awards to Annie Kimball, Mt. Abram's Don Cross, and John Head respectively, details of which have previously been announced.

funny commented principal speaker Eric Wight as he began his discussion on the search and rescue responsibilities of Maine's game wardens. In the course of his presentation, Eric, who for many years served this area as a game warden, then outlined the fascinating theory, technique, and modern practices employed by the warden service for locating lost persons.

Eric on fiddle accompanied by Dick Haines on guitar brought the evening to an enjoyable close with a well received medley of French-Canadian country music.

Many thanks to the committee for arranging such a delightful evening and helping to launch the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce into another ambitious, busy, and service oriented year.

Any-deer permit system approved for 1986

The Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Advisory Council has voted to establish an "any-deer permit" system in Maine for the 1986 firearms deer season.

The five council members present at the May 31 meeting, in Bangor, were unanimous in accepting the proposal made by Commissioner Glenn H. Manuel and the Fish and Wildlife Department to implement the new approach to management of Maine's deer population.

The permit system had previously been endorsed by a majority of sportsmen attending seven public hearings conducted by the department last winter, and by many organizations, including the statewide Sportsman's Alliance of Maine, the Wildlife Society and Whitetails Unlimited.

In effect, the new system establishes a state-wide "bucks-only" hunting season for four weeks in November for all hunters. However, anyone holding a current hunting license may apply for an "any-deer permit" in any one of 16 deer management districts. If selected to receive a permit, they could then take either a buck or a doe deer in that district, or they could hunt for bucks-only anywhere in the state.

The yearly limit remains one deer per hunter, regardless of the animal's sex or the season in which it was taken.

Application blanks for "any-deer permits" will be available throughout the state by July 1, at municipal offices, sporting goods stores and offices of the Fish and Wildlife Department.

The application period will be from July 1 through Aug. 29. There is no fee for the application or permit.

A public drawing to select permittees will be held in mid-September, and winners will be notified about Oct. 1.

Non-resident hunters who held a 1985 license to hunt deer in Maine will receive an "any-deer permit" application by mail from the Fish and Wildlife Department with no request needed. Other non-resident hunters may request one by writing to the department's Augusta office (Sta. 41, Augusta, Maine 04333).

Commissioner Manuel said the new system would provide for local control over the taking of doe deer by limiting the number that can be removed from each district, and address local differences in deer populations. "It will make it possible to continue rebuilding the deer herd to the optimum level in each area of the state," he said.

"Long before I became commissioner," he continued, "I was very much concerned about the deer herd, and one of my goals in office has been to improve it. The population in the last two decades dropped from a high point of about 300,000 deer down to about 150,000. Something had to be done, but we did not have the authority to act."

"Four years ago we went to the Legislature and presented our situation, and they granted us the authority for three years to impose bucks-only hunting. When that ran out, last year, we returned to the Legislature and again were given authority for bucks-only. At that time, we also requested, and received, the authority to implement an "any-deer" permit system."

By LAURA HUTCHINS

Another partially sunny day but mostly cool (Wednesday). The wind still blows hard after a night of wild windblow. Not conducive to good growth in the gardens. Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Swain, daughters, Courtney and Lucie, of Newburyport, Mass., spent five days last week visiting his parents of East Andover and other relatives in the area. Also on June 28 they plan to move to Missouri.

Joshua and Sarah Plawlock of Bethel, came to spend a few days last week, following the close of school, with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones of East Andover. Joshua returned home with his mother on Sunday. Sarah remained and has been attending Vacation Bible School at the First Congregational Church in Andover this week. She will return home today.

George Ladd, East Andover, was stricken ill while on a fishing trip last weekend and has been a patient at Rumford Community Hospital. He has now been moved to the Maine Medical Center.

Bertha Summerton of Milo, a former Andover resident, was an overnight guest of Lorena Simmons, Andover. On Tuesday she left with Violet Swain, East Andover, for a trip to Kansas City, Mo., where they will attend the "1918" Convention. Seven members of the Maine Chapter plan to attend with guests. They are due to return home on Sunday.

Mrs. Paul Cayer, East Andover, entered Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston on Tuesday, where she is a surgical patient.

Mike Morton, Andover, is a patient at the CMMC in Lewiston.

Thomas Learned was in the Rumford Community Hospital last week but is home again now.

Howard "Buster" Marston suffered a stroke last weekend and is at the Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway. Our thoughts and prayers go out to all those who are ill. Seems like it has been a year of much illness.

Out-of-town telephone service was interrupted Monday night when the National Guard dug into the underground cable, while working to put in the snowmachine bridge below the green bridge in Andover. Service was restored after a time by the telephone repair crew.

Mrs. Agnes Avery of Kennebunkport accompanied three of her daughters, Betty Hamlin of Kennebunk, Benny Nutter and Dot Cole, both of Sanford, to East Andover and Andover on Tuesday, where they visited her brothers and wives, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hutchins and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins, and other relatives in this area.

On July 10, the public luncheon, sponsored by the Ladies Aid Society will begin with seafood casserole, salad, hot rolls, assorted cakes and beverage. Posters are up in several locations and an ad elsewhere in the paper tells what is coming up for all eight weeks. We hope to see you there.

The service at the First Congregational

Amanda Davis, of East Andover, won second prize in a recent "Win a Friend" contest at the Calvary Congregational Church Sunday School, in Andover. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Davis. The contest was held to encourage people to attend, or come back to, Sunday school.

Church on June 22 honored the Ladies Aid Society, which has been in existence here for 126 years. Members, Dorothy Campbell and Geraldine Marston were greeters. Research and a compilation of facts, figures and happenings in the society by its members was written up by Evelyn Bell and read during the service by Laura Hutchins. The sermon was entitled "The Family Remnant." Hymns chosen by Ladies Aid members were "The Church in the Wilderness," "In the Garden," and "How Great Thou Art." A special anthem by the choir was "One Day at a Day." Following the service, a potluck brunch, under the direction of Judy Richardson, assisted by Bev Swan, was prepared. A bounty of food—and fellowship was enjoyed by many. On behalf of all the Ladies Aid members, a big thank you to Judy, Bev, and all others who helped in any way.

The next Ladies Aid meeting is July 8 when we will meet and leave from the CEB at 10 o'clock to carpool for picnic and mystery ride. Each one is to bring their own plate, cup, silverware, ham-burg, hot dog, buns, or sandwich, whatever you prefer for lunch. We will have a charcoal fire ready to cook whatever needs cooking. A warm welcome is extended to anyone who would like to join us and enjoy the fun.

At the Tuesday night (June 24) selectmen's meeting the 1986 mill rate of .0155 was set after receiving the total valuation figures. This lower figure was made possible by interest received from the Comsat investment and disbursed as per vote of the town at the 1985 annual town meeting. Taxes were committed to the tax collector and the computerized tax bills will be forthcoming with a few weeks. The rewiring has been completed and new lights are now installed at the town hall. New street signs have been completed and will soon appear. The road crew is waiting for the arrival of steel posts to erect them.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

Summer mornings are glorious. The fields are attired in their most beautiful robes, and the seediness from the wild roses is refreshing. I can not think of a more delightful thing than to walk into the woods where our feathered tenants are trilling. June isn't harsh, but flatters your ears with softness; the sound of the robin, orioles and finch. June's air is as sweet as the wild strawberries, clover blossoms, or honeysuckle growing in the fields.

A summer noon will send my heart to a hill where metronomes of time are slow. There I hear the bumblebee lazily playing on his bassoon happy at a country noon.

What a delight is a summer night, when the stars are bold, shimmering, bewitched by the moon, while across the pond the wild fowl flutter and stir.

In this setting is Maplewood, our neighbors' cottage. Since 1946 it stood until last fall when it was replaced with new timbers and renewed hope for the next generation. They opened it June 21st for the summer.

Opening a cottage can mean many things. You turn the key in the lock, a cloud of chilly air crowds around you. You walk slowly from room to room. Rugs are rolled and windows shaded. You open doors and lift shades. Fresh air chases away any musty smell. Sunlight streams in. There's a brightness now. You plug in the refrigerator. Anyone who has opened a cottage knows there is more hard work ahead. However the water will be blue with diamonds sparkling on it. The air will be warm, children's laughter will be heard. There will be honking horns and greetings from friends. Chicken roasting on the grill, steak to fry, coffee to drink add to the fun.

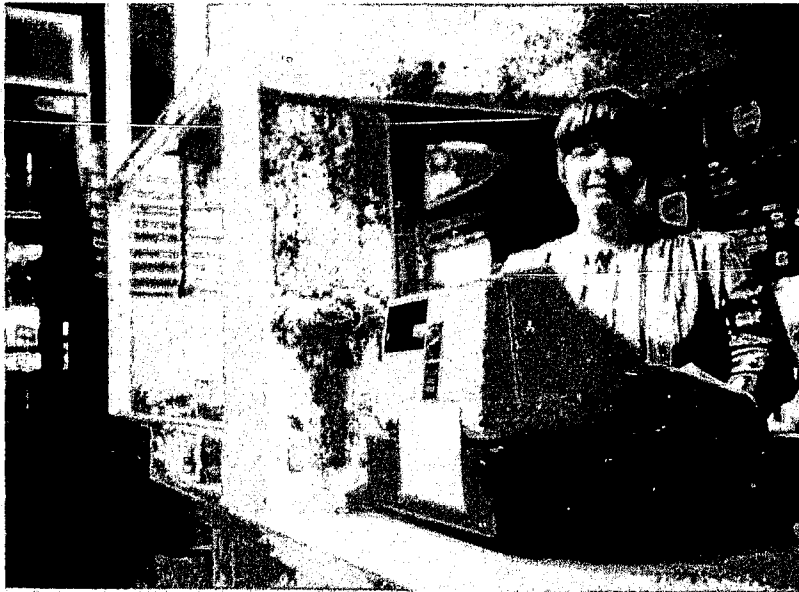

May the grandchildren of today be as those we knew over the years, friendly, thoughtful and kind. Little by little we saw the children grow taller and taller and then, before it seemed possible they were men.

Duane Hayes and children, Scot and Tena Hayes, West Paris; Wallace and Nancy Hayes, local, called on Doris over the weekend.

Several callers came to see Frank and Dorothy Curtis. Waldo and Audrey Porter, West Peru; Phil and Dot Bentley, Lewiston; Ann Louise Harmons, Port-roy, Washington; Dale and Marcia Mills, Shapleigh; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Ernest Curtis, Poland; Fred, Rena, Kathy Curtis, Eva Felton, local. John and Dot Betts have returned from a two week trip to San Diego, California. David Holt, Dexter, visited his parents over the weekend.

Three teams ready to run in nurses' race

Three teams have already signed up for the nurses' bed race to be run on Mollycoddett Day, July 19. The teams are from the BEARS, Tri-Town Rescue, and the Bethel Area Health Center. Keegan's Ambulance Service, of Rumford, may also field a team.

While pushing a hospital bed from the head of Main Street up Broad Street, the teams will have to stop at four stations along the way to treat a head injury, take blood pressure, give a bed bath and treat a hand wound.

The winner will be determined on how fast the entire course can be completed, while administering the required treatments.

Bacon, West Paris; Ernest Mundt, Bethel; Ernest Curtis, Poland; Dale and Marcia Mills, Shapleigh; David Holt, Dexter; Ann Holt, Bethel; Denise Adams, Fred and Rena Curtis, local. Fay Holt stayed with her brother Clyde, while I went with Doris Hayes and other teachers for dinner on Wednesday, and then to the home of Avis Stelthorn.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curtis at their home in Buckfield on Sunday. Several other members of the family were in Jackman on a fishing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miles and granddaughter, Jenny Holt of Augusta came to see us and the Hols on Friday. Ann Holt took her mother to Boston to see her eye specialist on June 23.

Dorothy Elliott has returned home from the hospital.

Norman and Julie White, Elizabeth Sennett, Bernice Glover, Catherine McGuire and Dorothy Elliott enjoyed a picnic lunch together in the screen house at the Manor one day.

Callers at Dorothy Elliott's were Marion Ladd and Marion Easter. Bob Elliott, Locke Mills, took his Aunt Dorothy to the doctor, in Rumford on Thursday.

Louise Powell Hale visited her mother Alma Hewey one day this week.

Gertrude Hutchins and Catherine McGuire enjoyed a bus trip to Newfield, Maine on June 26 with the Bethel Senior Citizen group.

Callers at Florence Hall's recently were Donna Hall and son Guy, Bethel, Conn.

Gertrude Hutchins and Florence Hall called on Beatrice Dresser, who is home from the Rumford hospital.

Nancy Fox, West Bethel, called on her grandmother Ann Fox on Sunday.

Florence Hall called upon Arvilla Feener.

Thought for the Day—Ideals

Ideals are like stars: you will not succeed in touching them with your hands. But like seafaring men on the desert of waters, you choose them as guides, and following them, reach your destiny.

—Earl Schurt

Calvary Congregational Church

Our great speaker last Sunday, Brother Jay Walker from Greenville, Maine, has a ministry to the French speaking lumberjacks. He goes into the camps presenting the gospel to these men. While bringing us to date on the men, his message "Are You There" from I Kings 17:2-10.

Reading: Jeremiah 1.

Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Walker sang "Nearer Still Nearer". He had a slide presentation, followed by a question and answer time.

There are a lot of different ideas about the best way to build a home satellite system. You owe it to yourself to shop around and see what is available. Examine the equipment closely and ask questions about anything that you don't understand. Keep in mind that the sooner you'll know the true cost of any system is after you've seen the end of its service life. Try to separate the facts from the promises and buy from a reputable manufacturer. Study the choices, because only after you know something about the various solutions will you be able to make an intelligent choice between them.

Newry

By AMY HANSCOM

The Newry Planning Board will meet, Wednesday, July 2 at 7 p.m. at the Newry Town Office. They will be discussing the questionnaire distributed concerning the Comprehensive Plan.

The Assessors have received the valuation figures back from Linda Sanborn of Integrated Municipal Services, Farmington. The total valuation: Real and Personal Estate $22,201,683, an increase of $5,704,489 over 1985. The Assessors will set the tax rate as soon as the School Assessment is received. With the increase in valuation and the $400,000 cut in school budget approved by the voters at the May 28 district meeting it is expected that the Assessors will be able to hold the tax rate at a figure near the 1985 rate of .0114. This was also a tax rate for 1983 and 1984.

The new windows have been installed on the south side of the Municipal building and it is expected that work on painting the outside of the building will be started next week.

The Annual Homecoming Picnic and service will be held at Newry Community Church, Sunday, August 24 at 5 p.m. Following the picnic services will be held in the church. Ginny Walker will be the soloist. Area ministers will give brief messages, then there will be a hymn sing. Come one; come all!

Roger and I are very grateful for all the kindnesses shown toward us while I was in the hospital and since. God's Blessing!

Zackery Boylan has returned to Rhode Island after visited his mother, Mrs. Veronica Smith.

Brent Bachelder has returned to Rhode Island following a visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Bachelder, after a year in an art college.

Michelle and Philip O'Donnell Jr., Cumberland, recently visited their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Bachelder. Richard Clark is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

The following ladies were in Rumford bowling, June 24. Thelma Lowery, who was high on both one and three strings; Gil Sealey, Bea Lowell, Betsy Clark, Dot Dore, Eleanor Davis, Nancy Wight, Gretchen Wight, Rena Powers, Eleanor Morton, Olive Anderson, Louise Tetley and Karlene Bachelder. After bowling the ladies enjoyed lunch in Mexico.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Skilway Access Road Project
Newry, Maine

Pursuant to 23 M.R.S.A. §703, as amended by P.L. 1981, c. 456, P.L.A. §77, notice is hereby served that project improvement is proceeding for the reconstruction and relocation of the Sunday River Skilway access road, described as follows:

Beginning at the intersection of the Skilway access road and Sunday River Road in Newry, Maine (near Sunday River Inn) and proceeding in a westerly direction along the general alignment of the existing road for a distance of approximately 2500 feet, then continuing in a westerly direction along a relocated alignment for a distance of approximately 2500 feet to Brookside Drive, then in a northwesterly direction along the general alignment of Brookside Drive for a distance of approximately 300 feet to the end of the reconstruction and relocation (near Timberline Drive).

Information about this project may be obtained from the Assistant Division Engineer, Norman Worthington, of the Department of Transportation's Division Office in Dixfield, Maine (Tel. No. 207-562-4228).

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

Had an inquiry the other day as to why I no longer wrote for the Citizen from at least two local people. Unfortunately no one reports anything to me, but as I love a challenge, I will accommodate my sparse readers with a few lines.

Woman here have decided that Independence Day has been aptly named—In Matilda Murdock's words, "There are no gifts to wrap, no packages to mail, and if you have a cookout, no dishes to do." "Hail the Chief!", she hastily adds, referring to her hubby Sam, who's the backyard chef. However her neighbor and mine, Bob Bean, a confirmed bachelor, is just now making a major discovery. Hotdogs don't come in boilable plastic bags. He now calls himself an accomplished Chinese Chef—"he is a man at work!"

Whoever reported that America is no longer very mobile, should take a trip to Gilead and survey the kids that own minibikes.

As for myself, I have reached another great milestone in my life. I now have as many dieting cookbooks as I do regular ones. As they say "hope springs eternal". One look at my body will tell you where the chips have been falling the past few years. I was afraid I would wind up dead wearing a "zebra". (A zebra is 25 times larger than regular bras.)

Passed a lawn sale the other day and remarked, "Old things have a certain charm."

"You bet," my hubby replied, "They are paid for." (Well he married me didn't he!)

The last time I bought a megabucks ticket, I found out there are 3 kinds of buyers: those who win, those who win sometimes, and myself.

A woman came into the store and lunch counter here in town the other day and remarked, "I always wanted to take a milk bath—I think 52 quarts will do."

Linda, or Sunshine as is her handle, thought a minute and asked, "Pasturized?"

"No," replied the woman, "Just up to my waist."

(Note: I have found after living in this town that people don't gossip at the store anymore. They just have a strange sense of humor.)

Parking spaces outside, or seating problems do not exist at our local beanyery either, look how many truck drivers find them before you do!

And in closing remember God gave us two ends to use, one to think with and one to sit on. Success depends on which end you choose: "Heads you win and tails you lose!"

Au revoir for now, and in the words of a certain teenager I know, "Keep laid back."

Horrid, upon inquiry, I learned "laid back" means keeping relaxed and cool. How times have changed!

Enjoy your vacations and peace.

THE NEWEST CRAFT SHOP IN TOWN is The Basketworks. Co-owner Linda Best stands in front of rugs she and husband Don produced. The shop—located off Main Street, behind Gillies Realty—also features pottery, soaps, notecards, wooden utensils, and wrought iron by Bryant Pond craftsman Paul Beaton.

Bethel

By VIRGINIA WALKER

The Bethel Senior Citizens will meet Wednesday, July 9, at Stony Brook Campground—rain or shine. The business meeting will be at 11 a.m. with a picnic at 12 Noon. Members are to bring a hot dish or salad, chairs and an article in a brown bag for the brown bag auction. Hot dogs, hamburgers, rolls and drink will be furnished. Harold Powell will be our host.

Thirty-three senior citizens went to Willowbrook Museum in Newfield, Thursday. The group left Bulldog Diner parking lot area via Oxford Bus Lines at 8:30 a.m. Lunch was served in the "Feeding Station" on the grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Walker attended a Summer Solstice at the home of their granddaughter, Melissa in New Sharon recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Perkins were at Popham one day last week and reported cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethe Ward have returned from a bus trip around the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway went to Milford, Mass. Wednesday where they transported a playhouse they have been building for their granddaughter. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Miro. This house has two rooms, one upstairs and one downstairs with no-wax linoleum on the floor. A little ladder takes you upstairs. The rooms are about 4 feet high. The building is painted red. A tower look has been given the house.

Esther Davis took me to Lewiston for a check-up on my eyes. The doctors it was doing all right.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks and Olive Davis attended Oxford Pomona at Bryant Pond Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Miclon were in Popham Beach area Sunday. The traffic was so heavy in that area they really didn't get to the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brooks took Bea Eames, Olive Davis and Bertha Benoit to Rindge, N.H. Sunday. It was a beautiful clear trip through Franconia Notch and a good day for a ride. We tried to take pictures but don't know how they came out as yet. We arrived home 10:30 p.m.

Esther Davis and Helvi Tucci have called on Olive Davis this week. Heavy rains were in our area Tuesday evening. The winds have been strong also.

The Association for Information and Image Management (Maine Chapter) has awarded the John P. Eager Memorial Scholarship in the amount of $1,000 to Sarah Lynn Buckman, daughter of Francis and Mary Buckman, of Bethel.

North Paris

By EVELINE B. VATCHER

A happy July 4th holiday to everyone. Herbert Stevens is on guard duty nights at L.L. Bean's in Freeport.

Mrs. Elie Piirainen, Tuell Town Road fell and broke her hip and is at Ledgeview for a few weeks. She is very active so she will strive to get well quick.

The Grange dance at West Paris was a success. Several of the "Old Parisians" including Lenwood Andrews and Ivan Proctor Sr., donated their services for the worthy cause. They sold eighty tickets and everybody danced and enjoyed a pleasant evening.

They say "seeing is believing". Wednesday afternoon the Vatchers were watching TV when they noticed some of the lilies by the sliding glass doors were in motion. Close inspection saw a large mole chew off the 2-foot tall lily stem with six buds on it then drag it to a hole in the ground and take the stalk and all down into the hole and scamper back for another one. Joe Vatcher put some mole traps in the hole and covered it then found that six plants had been cut off and one had been left on the ground. He brought it into the house as evidence. Can't win!

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bailey are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a daughter, named Morgan on June 19.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher went to Baxter State Park at Millinocket Monday. On the park road a moose ran in front of their pickup truck for a half mile then ran into the heavy wooded area. On their way home two fawns walked across the road near Wayne and Richards Estates houses and the camera was in the back of the truck.

Heavy frost on June 26 took all of Vatcher's string beans that it missed when we had the last frost. Planted more Thursday so maybe by snow fall they will have green string beans. Just can't win!

Arlene Abbott, Mexico called at Lawrence's on her way to take her son to the doctors in Norway. Other callers were Mione Records, Elizabeth Cummings, Steve Millett.

Doris Lawrence went to see her sister Alice Goff at Cozy Inn Nursing home Thursday.

Joe Vatcher worked at the dump all day Saturday so the regular attendant could be with his children for a bit. Joe talked with all the townspeople and enjoyed it.

CRAFTS FAIR AT N. CONWAY

Area artisans will gather on Saturday and Sunday, July 12 and 13, for the 5th annual Craftsman's Fair, at the North Conway Community Center, on Main Street, North Conway, N.H. (near the North Conway train station).

The fair opens at 10 a.m. on the 12th and continues on until 9 p.m. On the 13th, festivities go from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Representing Locke Mills will be Louise Seames, who will be exhibiting her handwoven baskets.

There will be demonstrations of crafts, including blacksmithing, as well as tables filled with articles for sale.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the annual society picnic will be held on Thursday, July 3, at 6:30 p.m. on the lawn of the Dr. Moses Mason House. The monthly business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. with the program which will feature Eric Wight speaking on "Indians and Archaeology." Anyone interested in attending this meeting is cordially invited to do so. Please bring a picnic lunch. Coffee, tea and punch will be furnished by the society.

A contribution to the 1986 Endowment Campaign has been received this week from Elizabeth Whiteman of Elkins Park, Pa.

Dr. William B. Lapham's History of Bethel arrived this week and is now available for sale in the society's museum store. Anyone interested in acquiring this second impression of the 1981 reprint of this important Bethel book is urged to stop by the society during regular business hours 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday or during July and August, Saturday and Sunday 1-4 p.m. as well. For information, please call the society office at 824-2908.

As announced in a previous column the society received a copy of the History, Maine Civilian Defense Corps, 1941-1944. This volume records that the Aircraft Warning Service established 265 observation posts in Maine during World War II, manned 24 hours per day by volunteers. These posts were operated in 1942 and 1943 until radar took over and air attack without warning was not possible. In the Bethel section of the book is written the following: "In April 1942, a Control Center for air raid alarm was installed at D.G. Brooks' store and blackouts were observed. An Observation Post with E.F. Ireland, Chairman, was established and manned successfully."

Barton and Leslie Thurston. Recent callers here have been Ted Berry, Rod White, Linda March, Hugh Stearns, Jeff Barton and Margaret Barton.

Remember the First Albany Church supper, sale and flea market will be July 10 at 5:30 p.m. See you all there.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering items for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individuals needs, etc. If you're cleaning the garage, attic, or cellar, let us get rid of those unwanted items for you. Call Roger Conant, 824-2131 or 824-2269, for pickup. Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

WE'RE OPEN NOW!

The berries are ready!

Strawberry season is here, and the crop at Albert Farms is wonderful. The flavor is superb this year and the plants are loaded with huge red berries just waiting to be picked.

The price of berries is 70¢ per pound and you may use standard P.Y.O. trays only. Bring yours if you have them, or purchase them from us at 25¢ per large capacity, reusable tray.

We feature a most helpful and courteous staff, convenient parking, speedy check-out, and of course, the BEST strawberries.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is some background on World War I by Ernest Hemingway:

"In the late summer of that year we lived in a house in a village across the river and the plain to the mountains. In the bed of the river there were pebbles and boulders, dry and white in the sun, and the water was clear and swiftly moving and blue in the channels. Troops went by the house and down the road and the dust they raised powdered the leaves of the trees. The trunks of the trees too were dusty and the leaves fell early that year and we saw the troops marching along the road and the dust rising and leaves, stirred by the breeze, falling and the soldiers marching and afterward the road bare and white except for the leaves."

"The plain was rich with crops; there were orchards of fruit trees and beyond the plain the mountains were brown and bare. There was fighting in the mountains and at night we could see the flames from the artillery. In the dark it was like summer lightning, but the nights were cool and there was not the feeling of a storm coming."—Ernest Hemingway

Doug Thompson, a former Woodstock High principal, gave the society some pictures and an old pen and pencil set. The society meeting (Saturday, July 12) will feature the film, "From Stump to Ship."

Leo Cyr and Rebecca Stearns

STEARNS - CYR ENGAGEMENT

Warren and Marcia Stearns of Hanover are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Rebecca, of Portland, to Leo Cyr of Virginia Beach, Va., son of Leo and Lorraine Cyr of Rumford.

Miss Stearns is a graduate of Rumford High School in 1978 and of Thomas College, Waterville, in 1980. She is employed by the Maine National Bank in Portland.

A graduate of Rumford High School in 1977, Mr. Cyr is a Petty Officer 1st Class in the U.S. Navy at NAS Oceana in Virginia Beach, Va.

Miss Stearns and Mr. Cyr are to be married on Nov. 15, 1986, in Rumford.

By PAULINE SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bickford and cousin Ruby Lary visited with Iva Fox and Pauline Smith Saturday from Rochester, N.H. and Fryeburg.

Twelve of the church people met and worked at the United Church of Christ, cleaning Saturday forenoon.

The young Belaskas are here at their father's house for a few day.

John and Carol Palmer called at Leney Smith's one evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Brad Crosby and son, Bruce Crosby and friend Lee had dinner at the Smith's Thursday evening.

Mrs. Tom Gallie and aunt visited Pauline Smith Thursday.

Robert Cope from Connecticut is here for the summer at his cottage.

Peter Fox is mowing the cemeteries in Lovell for the town.

Mr. Bell is having a garage built, lives in Sabattus.

A large crowd in church—around 60 came from Frontier Camp, and a group from Massachusetts. Nine sang in the choir. It was a nice service.

Robert Johnston worked for Hazel Allen Sunday.

I have heard of frost—some cool for June.

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town wishes everyone a safe Fourth of July holiday. It can be even safer with a few ounces of protection with any firecrackers or sparklers.

The auxiliary will meet July 7 at the Bethel Savings Bank in West Paris at 7 p.m. to plan July's fund-raising activities. These include a giant yard sale at Emery's July 12 and 13 and a booster club supper on July 19.

The personnel are getting in shape for a nurse's bed race on Mollyockett Day in Bethel. Be sure to root for your favorite health service team on July 19. Also don't expect the same speed of treatment in a real situation.

Safety Tip of the Week

This week will begin a series on specific injuries and identify signs and symptoms that indicate the injury.

A fracture is a medical term for a broken bone. When a bone breaks, several other things happen that might indicate the bone is broken and needs medical treatment.

Often bleeding occurs as blood vessels are damaged when the bone is broken. This can be noticed with swelling, if the skin isn't broken. Sometimes the bone can be out of alignment, and shows obvious deformity. The muscles around the bone aren't as well supported and can contract in spasms felt by the patient.

The person can sometimes hear a crack as the bone breaks. With a broken extremity, the person will be less likely to be able to move the hand or the foot. Pediatricians observe if a child can walk on the injured leg as an indication of a fracture.

With broken ribs, the person will notice difficulty or pain when taking a breath. Splinting on this case is quite effective holding a pillow lightly across the chest.

All or none of these signs may be present with a broken bone. Sometimes it will go unnoticed for a period of time, but the pain won't go away with time, as a sprain will. The best way to determine is to have an x-ray taken of the injury.

Elyssa attended Crescent Park, Telstar Middle, and Telstar Regional High School during the six years she lived in Bethel.

NEWS FROM BETHEL AREA

Health Center

Dr. Gregory Brown will be joining the health center as medical director on Oct. 1. Raised in Maine, he received his bachelor of science degree from the University of Maine at Orono and his MD at the University of Vermont College of Medicine, in Burlington, Vt.

Dr. Brown worked in many capacities before obtaining his medical degree. He has been a house painter, farmhand, yacht crew member, chauffeur and a member of the Peace Corps.

While in medical school, he received the Lamb Fellowship Award, given to the student who best exemplifies the highest ideals of the physician-patient relationship.

Dr. Brown has relatives in Andover and is anxious to re-settle in his home state. He will be in the area this fall. He is relocating from the State of Washington.

THOMAS I. BROWN

Thomas I. Brown of Bethel died Friday, June 27, 1986, at the Market Square Health Care Facility in South Paris, where he had been a resident since 1971. He was born at Locke Mills on Oct. 17, 1883, the son of Oscar W. and Clara Smith Brown. Educated in the local schools, Mr. Brown graduated from Gould Academy in 1911. In 1933, he married Edith Thurston in Bethel. She passed away in 1971. For many years he was employed by the Brown Paper Co. in Berlin, N.H., as a woods clerk and scaler. He was later employed by Ceylon Rowe and Sons in Bethel. After the hurricane in the fall of 1938, Mr. Brown supervised scaling and booming of pine timber in Oxford County for the U.S. Forest Service. Mr. and Mrs. Brown operated Brown's Tourist Home on Main Street (the present location of the Bethel Area Health Center). He also operated his own insurance agency. Mr. Brown spent 22 winters in Bradenton, Fla.

Mr. Brown was a former corporator of the Bethel Savings Bank. He was a 68-year member of the Bethel Lodge #97 AF & AM, and its oldest past master. He also belonged to York Rites and was a life member of Kora Temple Shrine in Lewiston.

Survivors include one son, Norris T. Brown of Bethel; two granddaughters and three great grandchildren. A son, Lt. Parker T. Brown, was killed in action on Aug. 6, 1944 while serving with the U.S. Army Air Force during World War II.

Funeral services and public Masonic memorial services were held Sunday afternoon at the Greenleaf Funeral Home. Interment was at the Riverside Cemetery, Bethel.

Serving as bearers were Donald and Dana Brooks, Edward Wheeler, and Leland Brown.

BUTLER B. DUNN

Butler B. Dunn died Thursday, June 26, 1986, at his residence on Fourth Street in Ellsworth. For many years Mr. Dunn had resided for a portion of each year in Bethel where he operated Dunn Apartments at the junction of Main and Mechanic Streets.

He was born at Ellsworth, July 31, 1906, the son of Willis and Millicent (Brown) Dunn. He owned and operated H.L. Dunn and Son Monument Works for 40 years. He was a 55-year member of Lygonia Masonic Lodge, AF and AM; the Masonic Club of Ellsworth; the Lejok Lodge, IOOF, of Ellsworth; and was a past master of Mariaville Grange and Greene Mountain Pomona. He was a member of the state and national granges, the Maine Historical Society, and the Mt. Abram and Norway-Paris fish and game associations.

He is survived by his wife, Rita (Carr) Dunn of Ellsworth and Bethel; three sons, H. Howard Dunn of Rumford, and George E. Dunn and Richard D. Dunn of Otis; one sister, Evelyn L. Dewitt of Ellsworth; a stepdaughter, Darlene Springer of Bethel and Ellsworth; 15 grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren. Mr. Dunn was predeceased by a sister Madeline T. Brown.

Services of remembrance were held Sunday afternoon at the Jordan Funeral Home, Ellsworth, with Rev. John Dunn officiating. Interment was at the Juniper Cemetery, Ellsworth Falls.

Contributions in Mr. Dunn's memory may be made to the Norway-Paris Fish and Game Association, Norway, Maine 04286.

ANDREW "DUKE" BOYD

Andrew "Duke" Boyd of West Bethel died Friday, June 27, 1986, at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway. He had been in failing health since last November.

He was born in Hanover, N.H., Jan. 20, 1926, the son of George S. and Sibyl Stone Boyd. He was a 1945 graduate of Woodsville (N.H.) High School. Following graduation, Mr. Boyd served in the U.S. Army Air Force. He married Colleen Bennett on Nov. 3, 1950, and resided in West Bethel for the past 35 years. He was a merchandiser for many years. At the time of his retirement due to ill health, Mr. Boyd was a salesman for Berlin-Gorham Subaru in Gorham, N.H. He was a former member of the Bethel Chamber of Commerce and a member of the West Bethel Union Church. Mr. Boyd also served for several years on the town of Bethel budget committee.

Survivors include his wife, Colleen, of West Bethel; one son, Craig A., of Brewer; three sisters, Mrs. Betty Dresser of Deland, Fla., Mrs. Reita Jones of Woodsville, N.H., and Mrs. Gloria Kenney of Waterford, Vt.; and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the West Bethel Union Church with Rev. Charles L. Pendleton of Denmark officiating. Interment was at the Pine Grove Cemetery, West Bethel.

Serving as bearers were Lawrence Estes, Richard Smith, Peter Seames, and Drew Webster.

Donations in Mr. Boyd's memory may be made to the West Bethel Union Church, c/o Jane Hosterman, treasurer, West Bethel, Maine 04286.

WEST PARIS NURSE WINS AWARD AT GRADUATION

Roderick B. Cook, of West Paris, won the Board of Trustees Award at Central Maine Medical Center's School of Nursing graduation exercises recently. The award is given each year to the student who demonstrates leadership qualities, displays concern and understanding for others, makes decisions and assumes responsibility for his actions and establishes trust in the interactions.

Mr. Cook and the 20 other graduates received associate degrees in the applied science of nursing. The ceremonies were held at Bates College Chapel, in Lewiston.

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Dale S. Robbins, son of Lucille E. Robbins, of Bryant Pond, was recently graduated from Coast Guard recruit training. A 1984 graduate of Telstar Regional High School, Robbins attended the eight-week training at the Coast Guard Training Center, Cape May, N.J.

Mrs. Keith B. Bartlett, Jr.

BARTLETT - KURPIEL

Laurie Jean Kurpiel of Marlborough, Mass., became the bride of Keith B. Bartlett, Jr., of Marlborough, at 11 a.m. on Saturday, June 14, at St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, Marlborough. Rev. John C. Chwalek, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Kurpiel of Marlborough, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith B. Bartlett of Bethel, Maine. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Music was provided by violinist Oulsa Fohrhaltz, flutist Kim Jones, and harpist John Senior.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Patricia Balle, Chicopee, Mass., sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cynthia Longevin, Adams, Mass., cousin of the bride; and Mrs. Cheryl Bobola of Barrington, R.I., and Mrs. Lori Garafano of Adams, Mass., friends of the bride; a niece of the bride, Christa Kurpiel of Stamford, Vt., was junior bridesmaid.

Serving his brother as best man was Jeffrey Bartlett of East Providence, R.I. Acting as ushers were Mark Kendall of Bethel, Maine, Thomas Mendosa of Boston, Mass., and Joseph Marrinan of Newton, Mass., friends of the bridegroom; Michael Kurpiel, Jr., of Stamford, Vt., a nephew of the bride, was junior usher.

The bride is a 1979 graduate of Hoosac Valley High School, Cheshire, Mass., and received her bachelor of science degree in computer information systems from Bentley College, Waltham, Mass., in 1983. She is employed by Irwin Brendler & Associates, Framingham, Mass., as a programmer/analyst.

A 1979 graduate of Gould Academy, the bridegroom received his bachelor of science in business management from Bentley College in 1983. He is employed as a sales representative by the Sperry Corp., Wellesley, Mass.

A reception was held at Three Chefs Taconic Restaurant in Williamstown, Mass., after which the couple left on their wedding trip to Barbados. Christa Kurpiel, a niece of the bride, had charge of the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett are residing in Marlborough.

Locke Mills native named deputy chief of Maine Warden Service

Lt. Larry S. Cummings has been promoted to the post of deputy chief of the Maine Warden Service, the Fish and Wildlife Commission announced this week. The appointment also includes a promotion to the rank of major.

Major Cummings, 44, has been serving as acting deputy chief since May. Major Cummings is a native of Locke Mills, and a graduate of Gould Academy. He served four years in the U.S. Air Force and worked for the State Highway Commission before joining the Maine Warden Service, in 1967.

He is married to the former Melvina Learned, of Newry, and they reside in Madison with their daughters: Amy, Emily and Sarah.

Many helped with Project Graduation

Project Graduation is over for another year, but not forgotten. There were lots of activities to choose from at the Hillside Racquetball Club, including music all night long, thanks to Chris Chapman and Chris Craig, acting as DJ's.

The arcade games were busy all night, and, thanks to Ferris Music, in Madison, free of charge. Grads played Telstar Trivia for prizes. Volleyball seemed to be very popular with the chaperones as well as with the graduates.

Many took advantage of the saunas and whirlpools after a vigorous workout on the racquetball courts.

There were prizes awarded at random throughout the evening to the seniors, donated by businesses and groups throughout the SAD #44 community.

Those helping make Project Graduation a success included: Rotary Club, Lions Club, Groan & McGurn, Eagles Club of Rumford, Sneez Music, Leroy Gray (the volunteer officer on duty), Fair Street Variety, Sheer Delight, Marketplace, Bob's Corner Store, Jack Frost Ski Shop, Shop 'n Save of Oxford, Pomona Grange, Purity Chapter #102 OES, Sweet Violets Realty, Larry's Garage, Bryant Pond Village Store, McJockey Antiques, Country Farmhouse, Gingerbread House, Dave's Store, Akers' Store, Andover Wood Products.

BARBARA TRAFTON PROMOTED

Barbara Trafton has been named vice president of corporate development at St. Mary's Hospital, in Lewiston.

A native of Rumford and a 1967 Gould Academy graduate, Trafton served five years in the Maine Legislature before joining St. Mary's staff as director of community relations and development, in 1981.

Last year she organized the Festival by the Lake—a symphony concert on the shores of Lake Umbagog that attracted some 3,000 central Maine residents.

In 1985 she was honored as "Woman of the Year" by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

GOULD ACADEMY became the proud recipient Sunday of a tapestry-style quilt depicting the woods loved by the late Bobby Chadbourn, a Gould graduate. The work of art was commissioned by Bob and Nancy Chadbourn and daughter Nancy Lea (on left) and executed by artists Gail Fraas and Dun- caide (center). Headmaster Bill Clough and his wife Ki (right) accepted the work of art on behalf of Gould. A large crowd of guests witnessed the unveiling of the quilt, in Gehring Hall.
